BIG CORPORATIONS POURED MILLIONS INTO CALL MONEY MARKET DURING THE BOOM

UTILITY CONCERN HAD 187 MILLION OUT IN ONE DAY, SURVEY REVEALS

Senate Report Shows Industrial Concerns Increased Speculative Craze, Then Hastened Deflation After Crash.

INTEREST RATE AS HIGH AS 15 PCT.

Loans Chiefly Through Banks—Aggregate for Standard Oil, Inc., During Period Totals 17 Billions.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—How big industrial and public utility organizations increased the speculative craze in 1929 by lending billions of dollars "on call" to Wall Street brokers and hastened the deflation by demanding their money after the "big break" in October of that year was disclosed to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee today.

Clarence E. Groesbeck, chairman of the board of the Electric Bond and Share Co., the gigantic public utility holding company organization, testified that during the year 1929 his company had made a total of 1663 "call loans" for an aggregate of $687,285,000, and that the highest amount outstanding on one day—Aug. 27—was $187,900,000. The average of the company's loans, he said, was $100,727,000. The interest range was from 5 to 15 per cent. After the break in October the company materially reduced this type of loan, the witness said.

R. P. Resor, assistant treasurer of Standard Oil, Inc., a great holding company of the oil industry, testified that his company had had an aggregate of $17,672,520,000 in the call money market in 1929, and that the highest amount outstanding on any one day was $97,824,000.

Ernest H. Johnston, vice-president of Cities Service Co., told the committee that Henry L. Doherty & Co., which he identified as the fiscal agents for the widespread Doherty utility empire, had made a list of companies which had hundreds of millions "on call" during the frenzied days of 1929.

Table of Loans.
The table made public by the committee showing the companies, and the greatest total each had out on any one day follows:

Companies	Peak Amount
Am. Foundry Corp. and Subsidiaries	$23,629,166
American & Foreign Power	30,321,000
American Can.	16,000,000
Aluminum Corp.	25,000,000

LATTER MISSED AIRPORT IN FOG

Beacon Not Burning at Field Because Company, Recently in Receivership, Was Economizing.

By the Associated Press.

FREMONT, O., Feb. 23.—Lieut. Norman Burnett, Army air mail pilot, bailed out of his ship seven miles north of Fremont early today and suffered a broken left leg in his parachute descent. Burnett was out of Cleveland for Chicago on an empty run.

He was found at 7 a. m. by Irwin Bowersox, a farmer, three hours after the accident. Burnett said he encountered a blizzard, lost his bearings, and decided to take to his chute. He thought he was far away from habitation, and failed to call out for help until daylight. When he started yelling, Bowersox heard the cry, and sent the flyer in an automobile to Memorial Hospital.

Hospital attendants said they were uncertain as to the full extent of the flyer's injuries, but thought he was suffering from exposure and shock in addition to the fracture.

The flyer came down on the Bowersox farm and was only a few hundred yards from the farm house when he fell.

He left Cleveland at 3:15 a. m., and crashed shortly thereafter. Weather conditions when he departed were reported favorable.

Another Flyer Misses Airport, Crashes Into Tree.

By the Associated Press.

CRISFIELD, Md., Feb. 23.—Lieut. Harold Deltz, flying the mails from Newark to Richmond, ran into thick fog last night and crashed, suffering a skull fracture and internal injuries.

Twice he circled Salisbury, Md., seeking a place to land. There was a good place near there—a commercial airport, in fact—but its beacon, officials said, had been darkened for economy, as the company recently had been in the hands of receivers. Deltz flew on in the darkness and crashed into a tree in a field near here.

While Deltz circled Salisbury, emergency men from the electric light company were rushing toward the airport to connect the meter. A fire truck clanged to the field and took position. Hundreds of persons watched.

3 GET 99 YEARS FOR KIDNAPING OF 'JAKE THE BARBER'

Roger Touhy and Two of His Gangsters Convicted at Second Trial for $70,000 Ransom Abduction.

JURY DELIBERATES 6 HOURS ON PENALTY

Votes Defendants Guilty and Then Splits on Death Sentence—Breaks Up Last of Old Gangs.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Roger Touhy and two co-defendants were convicted early today of the kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor. The jury fixed the prison sentences of all three at 99 years. Those convicted with Touhy were Albert Kator and Gustav Schaefer.

The jury shortly after midnight reported a verdict after deliberating six hours.

A previous trial ended in a jury disagreement. Before that, in St. Paul, Minn., Touhy was acquitted of a Federal charge of kidnaping William Hamm Jr., wealthy brewer.

The verdict marked one of the few victories in State courts for the prosecution of major kidnapings. The others in recent crime history were the convictions of the kidnapers of August Luer, Alton banker and of James Hackett, Blue Island, Ill., gambler. The sentences in those cases ranged from life imprisonment to five years.

The conviction of the Touhy gangsters came after a seven-day trial.

Guilt on First Ballot.
The first ballot resulted in a unanimous verdict of guilty. The second was taken after discussion as to what the sentence would be. Half of the jurors were reported to have held out for the death penalty, but a new trial or a reversal by the Supreme Court, the Touhy men will go to prison to remain for at least 33 years—the required time before they would be eligible for parole.

Hearing on a motion for a new trial is set for tomorrow.

The luck which carried Touhy through the two other kidnaping trials went steadily from bad to worse during the second trial here.

The day before the national election of November 1932 brought the legalization of beer and the repeal of prohibition into prospect.

No direction or suggestion is given in the will as to the allotment of the assets and responsibilities in the business, as between the two sons, Adolphus Busch III and August A. Busch Jr. The elder son, Adolphus, was elected president of Anheuser-Busch Inc., by the directors yesterday, and August Jr. was advanced from second vice-president to first vice-president, retaining the position of general manager.

The first Adolphus Busch, co-founder of the business, who died in 1907, was specifically named in his will for control of all his business interests by August A. Busch, who was his only surviving son then active in the business.

Mother, Sons Executors.
The two sons and their mother are named as executors of the estate, without bond, and the sons and the St. Louis Union Trust Co. are named as trustees; but the trust provisions, which were to apply in case Mrs. Busch should die before her husband, or before receiving his personal estate from the executors, will be of no effect after the distribution is made to her, and serve only as a guide to Mrs. Busch in her distribution of surplus income, it being entirely at her discretion whether she shall follow the plan there outlined.

AUGUST A. BUSCH LEAVES ESTATE TO HIS WIDOW

Gives Her Absolute Title but Suggests She Take Only $60,000 a Year For Self.

CHILDREN WOULD GET REMAINDER

Note Expresses Regret Nothing Is Left to Charity and Mentions Costly Period of Prohibition.

The will of August A. Busch, president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., was filed today in Probate Court at Clayton. The internationally known brewer ended his life Feb. 13 at his Grant's Farm home, because of intense suffering from cancer of the throat.

The will, brief in its main provisions, leaves practically the entire estate to the widow, Mrs. Alice Busch. It suggests that she take an annual income of $60,000, and distribute the remainder of the income among their five children; and it outlines at length a system for the distribution; but this is not binding on Mrs. Busch, whose title to all the property and income is declared to be absolute. No statement or estimate of the estate's value is made.

A note written by the brewer on the day of executing the will, Oct. 5, 1932, was made public with the will by his personal attorney, Daniel N. Kirby. The note, addressed "To my beloved wife and children," expressed regret that he bequeathed to charity were made, but stated that the writer had given liberally to such causes in his lifetime.

"Prohibition Costly."
"The years of prohibition are proving long and costly," the note said, "and the depression has also taken a toll, not only in greatly reducing the value of our holding, but seriously affecting the income. I am therefore going to make this request of all of you, that when business conditions improve, and Anheuser-Busch and our other interests are again re-established among the successful and profitable ones, you do what I would like to have done, and what I know your hearts will prompt you to do, in behalf of the needy and deserving." The signature is " Lovingly, Dad."

As shown by its date, the note and the will were written while prohibition was still in effect, and shortly before the national election of November 1932 brought the legalization of beer and the repeal of prohibition into prospect.

No direction or suggestion is given in the will as to the allotment of the assets and responsibilities in the business, as between the two sons, Adolphus Busch III and August A. Busch Jr. The elder son, Adolphus, was elected president of Anheuser-Busch Inc., by the directors yesterday, and August Jr. was advanced from second vice-president to first vice-president, retaining the position of general manager.

The first Adolphus Busch, co-founder of the business, who died in 1907, was specifically named in his will for control of all his business interests by August A. Busch, who was his only surviving son then active in the business.

The two sons and their mother are named as executors of the estate, without bond, and the sons and the St. Louis Union Trust Co. are named as trustees; but the trust provisions, which were to apply in case Mrs. Busch should die before her husband, or before receiving his personal estate from the executors, will be of no effect after the distribution is made to her, and serve only as a guide to Mrs. Busch in her distribution of surplus income, it being entirely at her discretion whether she shall follow the plan there outlined.

Mrs. Busch today notified the Probate Court that she would not accept of the executors, waiving that privilege in favor of her sons.

The will begins with these bequests of personal articles:
To the two sons, to be divided equally by agreement between them after the death of the survivor, all my gun and other hunting equipment and supplies of every kind and wherever located, also all my mounted birds, animals and other chattels, including trophies, that constitute my collection of birds in relation to game birds and animals and the hunting of them; the articles at the Grant's Farm home not to be removed while Mrs. Busch shall continue to live there.

Individual Bequests.

FEDERAL JUDGE REFUSES TO BAR RETAIL PRICE-CUTTING

Declines to Issue Temporary Injunction in Case of Katz Drug Co. and Food Mixer.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 23.—Federal Judge John P. Nields today refused to issue a temporary injunction restraining the Katz Drug Co., operating in Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., and Des Moines, Ia., from selling a household food mixer for less than $22 each.

The injunction was asked by the Chicago Flexible Shaft Co. Judge Nields held that the drug company had the right to sell the mixers at a reasonable profit to itself.

In his opinion, Judge Nields held that a manufacturer selling his product outright cannot "dictate" a fixed retail price, because such policy would be in restraint of trade and contrary to public policy.

"Defendant has the right to sell the machines, which it buys outright, at a reasonable profit to itself," the opinion stated, "even though the prices paid are less than the price at which plaintiff is striving to maintain all retail sales."

Judge Nields stated that evidence adduced showed that the defendant did not sell the mixing machines below cost, and did not violate article eight of the retail drug code.

FRACTIONAL RISE IN DOLLAR ON THE LONDON EXCHANGE

Sale of $2,000,000 in Gold Bullion Made at $34.72 an Ounce.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The United States dollar was fractionally higher on a better demand in a fairly quiet market today and closed at $50.71 to the pound, against $50.68 yesterday.

The sale of $2,000,000 (about $2,080,000) in gold bullion was reported at 136 shillings, 5 pence (about $34.72) a fine ounce.

The steamship President Roosevelt took nearly $10,160,000 at Southampton for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and the liner New York is to take a similar amount today.

LOSSES UP TO $3 FOLLOW EARLY RISE IN STOCKS

Weakness in Packing and Specialty Shares Unsettles Trading on New York Exchange.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Weakness in the packing and specialty shares unsettled the stock market today and brought a general selling movement into the list resulting in losses running to $3 after an early rise.

Motor shares, notably Chrysler, which were early favorites, succumbed to the liquidation in the final hour and early gains were converted into losses. "The selling of the motor shares was aggravated by news of strikes."

There was also heavy selling of Celsan Corporation shares.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 23.—Crown Prince Leopold became King of the Belgians today as Leopold III succeeding his father, Albert I, who was killed last Saturday in a mountain-climbing accident.

At 11 o'clock, before members of both houses of Parliament and many other dignitaries, Leopold took the oath to defend the Constitution. He spoke in French and then in Flemish.

The King said:
"I swear to observe the Constitution and the laws of the Belgian people and to maintain the national independence and integrity of the Belgian people and the integrity of the territory."

Thousands Cheer New Ruler.
Foreign representatives and diplomats in the lavishly-decorated Chamber of Deputies cheered the new ruler with the same enthusiasm as did thousands of persons who watched him on his ride to Parliament from the royal castle at suburban Laeken.

Thousands of Belgians shouting "Vive le Roi" and waving flags and handkerchiefs hailed Leopold on his triumphant ride.

Some sections along the route showed less enthusiasm than others, but there were no organized counter manifestations. Scattered anti-Royalist elements among the crowds along the streets were drowned out in the roar of acclaim.

For the most part Brussels was in a merry mood. Leopold, himself, was serious as he saluted his subjects.

Dressed for the first time in the full regalia of a Lieutenant-General, and wearing white gloves, he rode a brown horse. Others in his company also were mounted.

Escorted to the Throne.
In Brussels, the Crown Prince, dismounted to be greeted by a special delegation and escorted to the throne erected in the chamber.

Cabinet Ministers, dignitaries of State, foreign Kings and Princes and other foreign notables occupied a special tribune facing the Senators and Deputies.

Princess Astrid, who later became Queen, sat on the platform with her two small children, the new Crown Prince Baudouin, 3 years old, and his sister, Princess Josephine-Charlotte, 6. Astrid wore black, relieved only by a necklace of pearls. The children were dressed in white.

As Leopold concluded the oath, the whole assemblage rose. Mingled with outbursts of cheering were shouts of "Vive le Roi" and "Vive la Reine." The Queen waved her hand to the crowded chamber.

The Queen Mother, the widowed Queen Elizabeth, was not present at the ceremony.

Address from Throne.
The King read the traditional address while seated on his throne, behind which "letters in gold" were the phrase: "Union makes force."

His address was interrupted frequently by cheering, especially when he said: "Our Constitution is wide and supple enough to adapt itself to the varying necessities of the present with respect to order and legality."

When he alluded to the Queen Mother, associating her with his own Queen, the whole assembly

BROWN EXPLAINS BURNED LETTERS, MISSING FILES

Tells Senators He Left Destruction of Personal Correspondence to Secre-

SHEAF TO FARLEY FOUND IN CHEST

Quotes Witness as Saying He Testified What 'They Put in My Mouth'—
About Robertson Case.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Walter F. Brown, Postmaster-General under President Hoover, told Senate airmail investigators today that he had left to the judgment of his secretary what of his personal correspondence should be burned when he left office.

On the stand for the fifth consecutive day, Brown previously had expanded details of the award of airmail contracts during his administration.

"I told my secretary, Kenneth McPherson," Brown said, "I'd like for him to go over my personal correspondence and use his own judgment in sorting out papers that might be of value to me and to dispose of the part that had no value. I had no place to store it without a good deal of expense."

Brown said emphatically, however, that he told McPherson to sort over only his personal papers. He said he never saw his office files while Postmaster-General, leaving that to subordinates. Department employees have told the committee that official correspondence was put into the furnace at the direction of Brown's secretary at the end of the Hoover administration.

A few days after that testimony, Brown turned over a sheaf of letters to Postmaster-General Farley, saying he had found them unexpectedly in a chest of personal correspondence and odds and ends left over from his days in office. He said at the time the letters were some which department employees had testified were burned.

Letters Found in Chest.
Brown testified today that the first time he gave a thought to the contents of the box was on Jan. 12, 1934.

"Mr. Glover was in New York," he said, "and my attention had been directed to testimony in this investigation. We, Glover and I, were trying to fix the date when N. A. T. began passenger operations—being the most stubborn about it."

"I said to him that a compilation of mail contracts we made about a couple of years ago might show that."

Brown then said he asked his wife to have a hotel porter send the box to their library. He said, "That was on Friday," he said, adding that for one reason or another, partly because of disturbance over the "publicity" at the air mail hearing, he did not open the box until the following Tuesday.

"Then," he said, "I said to Mrs. Brown, 'Let's open that box.' We did and there tied up near the top I found two packages, one containing letters labeled 'merchant marine' the other 'air mail.'"

"I Never Saw the Files."
"Was there any other correspondence relating to either the ocean or air mail contracts in that box or any other box removed from the Postoffice Department?" Senator Austin (Rep.), asked. "None was put in any box," Brown said, adding he had kept copies of a few letters with him.

"Was there any purpose to be served in taking correspondence relating to ocean and air mail contracts with you?" "No, on the contrary,"

Brown said copies of official letters written by him were scheduled to be filed in his office, the chief clerk's office, and in the bureau under whose jurisdiction the subject came. "I never saw the files," he said.

"Did you personally make any selection as to papers taken away?" "I took no part whatever."

"Would the removal of those two files of papers from your office prevent the ascertainment of those files?" Brown said it would not. "Of course, I never went to the files myself."

Senator McCarran asked what instructions were given McPherson. "I told him to be very careful," Brown said, and then asked, "Do you mean, did I say anything about official correspondence?"

"Yes," McCarran said. "My recollection," Brown said, "is that I said that letters relating to postal matters were to be left in the files. But I'm not very clear about that. Mr. McPherson was a trained secretary, a man of very high character."

Brown said that most of the letters found in the two packages were copies of originals. "So there should have been other copies of these letters in the department," Austin asked. "I know there should have been two others," Brown said. "What They Put in My Mouth,"

WHITNEY ASSAILS 'DOMINATION' BY FEDERAL BOARD

President of New York Stock Exchange Says
Proposed Act Would Bar Odd Lot Business.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Continuing his testimony against the Fletcher-Rayburn stock market regulation bill, Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said today the proposed legislation would "absolutely prohibit the odd lot business" and the consequences of the enactment would be very grave.

Whitney, who yesterday proposed that the pending bill be scrapped in favor of one to be drafted by the exchange officials, appeared before the House Interstate Commerce Committee for the second day for questioning.

He defended the tactics of specialists, saying the system was an essential part of the important market for securities.

The legislation is aimed to prevent specialists from using their inside information for their own profit.

"The greatest criticism which has been leveled against specialists and apparently the evil at which this section of the bill is aimed, is that they are allowed to buy and sell for their own account the stocks in which they accept orders from others," he said.

Defends Specialists.
"Most people think this allows a specialist to trade against the orders which have been entrusted to him and that, therefore, he is buying and selling to the disadvantage of his customers."

"This, of course, is not true. For many years the specialists have been prohibited a specialist from trading against his customers' orders."

Whitney said it was commonly supposed that specialists by reason of the information which they secure from the orders entrusted to them have a great advantage in trading for their own accounts.

"If anything, the contrary is true," he said, "because the specialist is bound to execute his customers' orders before he may trade for his own account."

The odd lot business, he said, provided a market for all purchasers and sellers of listed stocks in amounts of less than 100 shares.

Opposes "Domination."
Power granted the Trade Commission in the bill he called "not regulation but domination."

"There is no single activity of a stock exchange from the admission of members to their suspension or expulsion that may not be controlled," he asserted.

"The election of the officers of an exchange and the appointment of its committees are likewise within the control of the Federal Trade Commission."

Declares Bill Invalid.
The constitutionality of the bill was challenged by Thomas B. Gay, counsel for the New York Stock Exchange. Gay contended that however necessary the control of the so-called abuses and conduct of stock exchanges, Congress was without constitutional power to do it because transactions were of an intrastate and not interstate character and hence should be controlled by the states.

"This is the most far-reaching regulatory power ever attempted by Congress," Gay said. "The constitutional aspects are so far-reaching," he asserted, "as to render it, to say the least, subject to the greatest doubt whether there exists in the Constitution power of Congress to enact this bill."

The Fletcher-Rayburn bill also met the opposition of the Associated Stock Exchanges in testimony before the House committee. Eugene E. Thompson of Washington, president of the association, said it was the judgment of the organization that if the proposed legislation was passed without modification, the exchanges would be "hindered and thwarted in their proper and legitimate functions" and it would "be impossible for them to retain their vitally important position in the industrial and economic scheme and setup of the United States."

Among the membership are exchanges in St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Detroit, and the curb exchanges at Los Angeles and New York.

Thompson said that business "cannot survive without market places for capital stock."

Drained Out at Crash.
Harry Sinclair, accompanied by counsel, listened to the witnesses as they told how their companies had poured money into Wall Street during the bull market and how they immediately drained it out when the stock market crashed. He had been subpoenaed to tell his own part in the spectacular rise and fall of brokers' loans which directly affected if they did not control the rise and fall of security prices.

When Johnston of Cities Service came to the witnesses' chair, Pecora read to him from monthly letters prepared in 1928 and 1929 by his company for the guidance of the members of the Executive Committee of Doherty & Co. The gist of these letters was that brokers' loans, particularly those "for the accounts of others," meaning the loans by industrial organizations, were becoming increasingly large and indicated a stock market collapse should they be curtailed or withdrawn.

Johnston admitted that in the light of events, the company's economist had been accurate in his predictions. He added, however, that he had not taken this view when he first read the letters.

TWO MEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION AND FIRE IN THEATER

13 Passersby Injured by Blast in Basement of Playhouse at Yonkers,
N. Y.—No Show at Time

By the Associated Press.
YONKERS, Feb. 23.—Two persons were killed and 13 injured by an explosion in the basement of the Proctor Theater today. Two of the injured are gravely hurt.

The explosion was thought to have resulted from the igniting of sewer gas or oil tanks by a spark in the cellar where power company employees were testing the transformers. The blast occurred shortly before noon before the theater was open.

One of the dead was identified yesterday as Carl, an electrical worker. The other was Patrick Patrick Whalin, who perished in flames after throwing to safety 10-year-old Gloria D'Addio, who had been hurled into a flame filled crater in the street.

All of the injured were passersby who were caught by the blast, which tore up the sidewalk and street in front of both the theater and an adjoining shop.

The theater is directly across from the Yonkers City Hall and on a busy thoroughfare.

MEETING AT ARMY OFFICER'S
HOME ON WAR GOODS DEAL

Grand Jury Learns Robert Jackson and Ralph T. O'Neill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Investigators for the grand jury have learned that revision of the contract of Joseph Silverman Jr., New York trader, to permit him to resell in this country huge quantities of clothing purchased from the War Department was agreed on at a conference of lawyers last July at the homes of Col. Joseph L. Mullen, of the Judge Advocate General's office of the Army.

Participating in the parley, which was said today to have been arranged by one of McMullen's superiors, were Ralph T. O'Neill, former National Commander of the American Legion, representing Silverman, and Robert Jackson, then secretary of the Democratic National Committee, representing the Newbury Manufacturing Co. of Boston.

O'Neill has been granted permission to testify before the grand jury next week as to his connection with Silverman's contract negotiations at the War Department.

Jackson told reporters today he attended the conference solely in the interest of the Newbury company, which has no connection with Silverman's firm. The Newbury concern, Jackson explained, was desirous, like Silverman, of receiving permission to sell surplus war materials in this country as well as abroad.

Leopold III Ascends Throne With Brilliant Ceremony

arose, cheering several minutes for Elizabeth. Two Communist members of the Chamber of Deputies remained seated during the ovations. These two, who yesterday engaged in a fistie exchange with Socialist Deputies in the chamber, gave a series of discordant yells. Their best efforts were drowned in the ovation which lasted five or six minutes. The Communists were not heard except by those who were nearest them.

Trip Back to Palace.
After the swearing-in ceremony, the accession of Leopold to the throne was announced to the waiting thousands outside by trumpeters who sounded a fanfare from the steps of the Parliament building. A great cheer went up from the multitudes when the King emerged. He remounted his horse and headed the procession which moved through the streets to the royal palace in the same order as it had come from Laeken.

Queen Astrid, because of the fact she is expecting the birth of a child, did not participate in the procession from the royal castle. She was taken by motor directly to the Parliament building. There she had been escorted to her throne when Leopold entered the chamber. The new Queen, clasping both her children by the hands, entered the royal carriage after Leopold had taken his place. Then the mother, the Crown Prince and Princess Josephine Charlotte followed the procession back to the palace.

Start of Day's Ceremony.
Ringing of church bells heralded the inauguration. Public mourning for Albert I was suspended for two days.

Leopold, tracing the same route he followed yesterday in the funeral procession of his father, began his entry into Brussels promptly at 9:30 o'clock. A salute of 101 guns announced the departure from Laeken. At the gates of the castle, he was greeted formally by the Burgomaster and communal authorities.

Hundreds of persons gathered along the broad esplanade in front of the castle grounds. Most of them, residents of the district, regarded Leopold as a neighbor.

In affectionate words, the Burgomaster interpreted to Leopold the sentiment of the people. Then the young ruler shook hands with the Burgomaster and other dignitaries.

Many Police on Guard.
Along the three-mile route extraordinary precautions were taken against disturbances by Communists or Separatists. Two Communist deputies, in a secret session of Parliament late yesterday, had hinted that the official verdict that King Albert died of an accidental fall while mountain-climbing was unjustified. Amid the ensuing uproar, they taunted Socialists who had pledged themselves to support the "King and Constitution" as being "Royalists rather than Socialists." Ushers had to restore order when some Socialists exchanged blows with the Communists.

Police took special precautions in the vicinity of the Flemish theater, an anti-Loyalist stronghold. Flemish Separatists, who now hold only seven seats in Parliament, were reported to have encouraged the Communists.

Thousands of Soldiers March.
The departure from the castle was a colorful spectacle. Behind Leopold rode his younger brother, Prince Charles, and the chiefs of staff of the army, air force and navy. Regiment after regiment of troops and mounted gendarmes swung by.

Leopold bowed head turned slightly toward King Albert's resting place in the royal crypt in the little gray church as the procession passed that spot. Trumpets blared a salute to the late monarch.

Crowds pressed almost up to the line of march. Some spectators climbed to rooftops. Women waved flags and handkerchiefs from windows.

A cavalry band led the procession on its winding course through the city.

Several platoons of mounted troops rode before and after the King. They carried spears, topped with small pennants of the Belgian colors.

The cavalcade entered the city by a quiet old stone canal bridge. There the gray-bearded Burgomaster rode ahead in a limousine.

City in Joyful Mood.
Leopold had discarded temporarily the black arm band of mourning. All over the city black flags had disappeared from the Belgian flags. Electric lights were strung up in the streets for tonight's celebration.

A new bronze royal insignia, bearing the initial "L" and surrounded by laurel leaves, was posted all over the city.

Orchestras in the cafes—silent for the last six days—struck up brisk tunes as the crowds poured in after the parade. Night resorts prepared to make merry in a way Belgium has not done since the World War.

All of the foreign Kings and Princes and most other visiting dignitaries who attended the funeral yesterday remained for the coronation. President Lebrun returned to Paris last night. Some of them will attend the De Teum mass to bless the reign of Leopold, which will be held at the St. Gudule Cathedral tomorrow.

BABY CROWN PRINCE
LAUGHS AS LEOPOLD TAKES OATH AS KING

Child Excited Over Uniforms—Mother Has Difficult Time Keeping Him Quiet.

By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, Feb. 23.—The somewhat bolshoi Prince Baudouin, 3½ years old, who is destined to wear the Belgian crown some day, had a good time today at his father's enthronement.

His mother, the new Queen Astrid, and his 6-year-old sister, Princess Josephine Charlotte, sat with him on the tribune at the left of Leopold's throne. But the baby Crown Prince did not contribute to the solemnity of the occasion.

He laughed constantly, pointing to the splendid uniforms of the guests, and was especially interested in the Archbishop of Malines and other prelates in their scarlet robes.

He was a handful for his mother, for there were no nursemaids at the enthronement. The Queen often had to caution him to keep quiet, and, several times, took him on her lap.

What Prince Baudouin enjoyed most of all was the demonstration which followed his father's speech with its declaration: "The dynasty is at the service of the nation."

He was excited as anyone when the Ministers cheered and waved their white hats, and other dignitaries cheered and waved their white gloves.

ROOSEVELT COUNCIL TO AID VIRGIN ISLANDS

Advisory Body Named to Promote Economic Development With PWA Funds.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—President Roosevelt today named an advisory council to organize a plan for the social and economic advancement of the people of the Virgin Islands, to be financed from public works funds.

President Hoover referred to the Virgin Islands as a "poorhouse."

The advisory council includes the Secretaries of the Interior and Agriculture, besides Alfred E. Staro of Chicago, George Foster Peabody of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Walter White of New York City, Dr. Howard W. Johnson, president of Howard University, and Charles W. Tausig of New York City. Tausig is now in the Virgin Islands organizing Government-fostered rum production.

The President addressed the following letter to Secretary of the Interior Ickes: "The administration has formulated a comprehensive plan for the social and economic advancement of the people of the Virgin Islands which is being financed from Public Works funds."

For the first time, sufficient funds are available to develop a well-rounded program which I believe will bring a permanent benefit to the islands if properly executed. The economic phases will be conducted on a non-profit-sharing basis and will include the development of cane lands and the operation of sugar mills and a rum distillery. Coincidentally, the social aspects will be cared for through adult education, nursery school, homeostanding and improved housing conditions. Co-operative marketing will be used wherever practicable which will enable these people to help themselves toward an improved standard of living."

I desire to form an advisory council of seven members to assist in the program, and I would like you to practice of law by the Supreme Court last October, for acting as "go-between" for the kidnappers.

Peak actually is confronted with the prospect of a life sentence in the kidnapping of the late Alexander Berg, wealthy fur dealer of St. Louis, in November, 1931.

Peak was convicted as the man who pointed out Berg as a victim of his associates in a kidnapping plot which produced no ransom payment, but resulted in prison sentences for five of the six men charged with the crime.

His appeal is the first of three by convicted members of the group to be passed upon by the Supreme Court. The sixth defendant, Paul A. Richards, former attorney of St. Louis, was acquitted of criminal charges in connection with the production, but was sentenced to a year in prison for acting as a "go-between" for the kidnappers.

State Supreme Court Overrules Contention Nieces Had Only Life Interest.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23. — The Missouri Supreme Court today affirmed the conviction and 25-year sentence of George Peak, kidnaper of St. Louis, for participation in the kidnapping of the late Alexander Berg, wealthy fur dealer of St. Louis, in November, 1931.

Peak was convicted as the man who pointed out Berg as a victim to his associates in a kidnapping which produced no ransom payment, but resulted in prison sentences for five of the six men charged with the crime.

Must Serve Life Sentence. Peak actually is confronted with a conviction in the Berg case, after he was convicted in St. Louis Circuit Court, Gov. Park last August revoked Peak's parole from a previous life sentence for murder of Charles V. Madison, Negro saw proprietor in St. Louis. Peak was paroled by Gov. Baker in December, 1929 after serving about 10 years in prison.

Commissioner John T. Fitzsimmons, who wrote the opinion in Division No. 2 of the court, held there was sufficient evidence to sustain the charge that Peak was party to the kidnapping conspiracy, and to sustain the conviction.

SAW DR. KENNEDY DRUGS, MURDER WITNESS SAYS

Physician Testifies Surgeon May Have Taken Drug 'to Steady Himself Because of Liquor.'

By the Associated Press. GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 23. — Dr. John Martin Joseph, Miss., today told the jury trying Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean for the alleged highball poison murder of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, Greenwood surgeon, that Dr. Kennedy "did not graduate from the Memphis medical school we attended together—he received a mail order diploma from an Illinois institution."

Dr. Martin, brought forward by the defense to give data on the personal habits of Dr. Kennedy, was not permitted to testify about "drinking at school," on the ground that the time was "too remote," but said he had seen Dr. Kennedy "drunk in recent years."

Throughout the trial, the defense has attempted to show Dr. Kennedy was "a drinking man," frequently ill.

More than a minute quantity of mercury would have been found in a post-mortem analysis if Kennedy had had enough to cause death, said Dr. Martin, answering State testimony that "a trace of mercury" was disclosed by an autopsy.

The judge held that "the mouse story" could be heard by the jury. The witnesses signing the will are Rudolph A. Huber, a vice-president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.; Anton Feichtinger, chauffeur for the Busch family; and Harry W. Kroege, a lawyer in the office of Nagel, Kirby, Orrick & Shepley.

STEELVILLE BANKER GETS 4-YEAR TERM

W. F. Arnett, Cashier of Closed Depository, Found Guilty of Forgery.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. STEELVILLE, Mo., Feb. 23. — W. F. Arnett, for many years cashier of the Crawford County Farmers' Bank, now closed, was found guilty of third degree forgery by a jury in Circuit Court here yesterday.

The cashier was accused of having falsified a depositor's account by showing credits from collections which it was learned had not been made.

Following the closing of the bank about a year ago, with $317,000 owing to depositors, auditors reported many irregularities and Arnett signed a statement that he had removed from the bank's assets $87,721 of "worthless" notes and substituted in place of them good notes which were the property of customers of the bank, but in his custody.

Arnett had been connected with the bank since 1900 and had been cashier for 27 years. He was a leader in church and civic affairs and had the confidence of the people. He is married and has two children.

"I'll do anything within reason to get a car owner into this station, because I know from years of selling Dixcel here on Delmar that once they try Dixcel, they'll always use it."

"Here's a good example of what I mean. During a recent cold spell I received calls from four motorists here in the neighborhood to come get their cars, they were having carburetor trouble. In each case I fixed them up and started them out with their first tankful of Dixcel Gas. Every one of these four have been buying Dixcel ever since. So I say, don't wait to be towed into a Dixcel Gasoline Station before you try this gasoline—get a tankful today. You'll get everything a good gasoline can give—plus scientific lubrication. SIR EDWARD ELGAR EMINENT ENGLISH COMPOSER, DIES

Succumbs at 77 at Home in Worcester of Protracted Illness Following Operation Last October.

By the Associated Press.

WORCESTER, England, Feb. 23.—Sir Edward Elgar, noted British composer and Master of the King's Music, died today after a protracted illness following an operation last October. He was 77 years old.

The son of an organist and music shop keeper, who tried law and then gave it up for music, he died without completing his long awaited work, "The Third Symphony." His most popular composition was the march "Pomp and Circumstance," written on the occasion of the coronation of King Edward VII. His "Salut d'Amour" was another great favorite.

Sir Edward died, made fair progress for a time after his operation but suffered a relapse. Before this, however, he was removed to his home last month. There, from his sickbed, he assisted by telephone in recording for the phonograph one of his earlier compositions. Listening through a loud speaker at his bedside, he relayed his criticisms and suggestions to the leader who was directing the orchestra.

Born June 2, 1857.

He was born at Broadheath, Worcestershire, June 2, 1857. In 1888 he married Caroline Alice Roberts, daughter of the late Gen. Sir Henry Gee Roberts. She died in 1920.

His principal works include three oratorios, "The Dream of Gerontius," "The Apostles" and "The Kingdom," and "The Two Symphonies," "The Two Concertos" for violin and cello and "The Enigma Variations."

He was made Master of the King's Music, a post corresponding to that of post laureate, in 1924. In addition he was an Honorary Freeman of the City of Worcester, the recipient of many degrees and honors from continental musical academies. He was a doctor of music of Yale University and a doctor of laws of the Western University of Pennsylvania. He was made a Knight of the British Empire in 1904, and received a rarely bestowed decoration, the Order of Merit, in 1911.

Virtually Self-Taught.
Although musically inclined from earliest youth, he was unable to take regular lessons and virtually taught himself how to play on various instruments. When he was about 12 years old he became acquainted with Beethoven's music and the "First Symphony" made a deep and lasting impression on him. At 15 he became assistant organist to his father. Next he became a director of an orchestra in an insane asylum composed of attendants. He also managed a glee club. London publishers looked askance at his music during two years residence in the capital. It was not until 10 years later that he really began to take his place in the musical world. His cantatas "King Olaf" and "Caractacus" had a good reception, and fame came in 1900 at the Birmingham festival when his oratorio "The Dream of Gerontius" won approval.

PROTEST BY RAIL WORKERS

1200 Adopt Resolution Against Kansas City Southern Wage Plan.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 23.—A resolution addressed to the presidents of all railroads in the Kansas City territory was adopted last night at a mass meeting of about 1200 railroad workers, asking the executives to prevent the Kansas City Southern Railroad from making effective March 1 proposed changes in its operating rules and wage system.

If the Kansas City Southern carries out its announced intention to make the changes, A. B. Cranor, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, told the workers, they had it in their power as individuals to tie up the road's service by refusing to move cars onto Kansas City Southern tracks and to accept cars from that road.

CWA ORDERS INQUIRY IN CHICAGO PAYROLLS

Graft of $40,000 a Week in Distribution of Checks Is Alleged.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Investigation by Civil Works Administration officials of alleged CWA payroll graft that totaled nearly $40,000 a week was started today by Col. Daniel I. Sultan, chief engineer of the CWA in Cook County.

The order for the investigation came following discovery that more than 2600 payroll checks had no takers when paymasters called to deliver them personally on the various projects in the county.

More than 180 paymasters have been visiting projects to deliver checks. There were two bushel baskets of checks left over when the first "personally delivered" pay was completed. These checks, officials said, obviously were issued to persons not employed by the CWA. Sultan said: "I am satisfied that there have been many irregularities, but to what extent I cannot say. We intend to investigate every one of the left-over checks and locate the individuals to whom they were issued."

Sultan said a detailed report would be turned over to District Attorney Green.

PLANS TO CELEBRATE YEAR OF ROOSEVELT

Mayor's Recovery Committee
Discusses Demonstration
March 3 and 4.

Plans for a celebration of the progress of business recovery during the first year in office of President Roosevelt, set by Mayor Dickmann for March 3 and 4, were discussed by the Mayor's Recovery Committee, meeting at his office yesterday. Final arrangements are to be made next Wednesday.

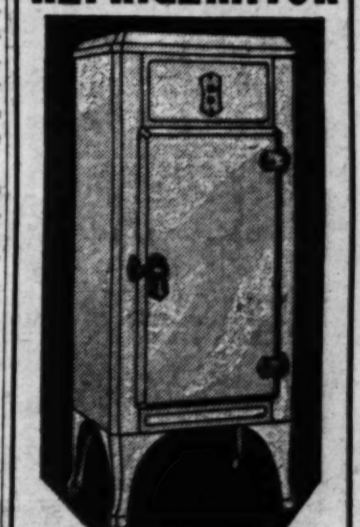

Reports from St. Louis business and industrial houses on the apparent improvement in commercial conditions are to be compiled for presentation during the celebration. They will be sent to the President if they show the improvement the Mayor thinks has occurred. Business and civic leaders are to be invited to a public luncheon at one of the downtown hotels Saturday, March 3.

After the luncheon there will be a public gathering outdoors on the Twelfth street side of City Hall. There will be band music. In the event of bad weather the gathering will be held in the City Hall rotunda. The next day, it is planned, clergymen will pay special attention to recovery in their sermons.

The idea of a semi-religious service in the Arena has been abandoned.

A representative of motion picture theater operators promised that the movies would give special programs as part of the celebration. A spokesman for the department stores said they would erect special decorations. It was suggested that the whole city decorate for the occasion. In various public places 1000 copies of the Mayor's proclamation of the celebration will be posted.

ROBBER STAYS OUT OF PRISON 3 YEARS ON LAW'S DELAYS

Supreme Court Affirms Conviction of James Pipey for $63 Holdup in County, June 24, 1929.

HE GOT 9-YEAR TERM, JULY 11, 1931

Took Appeal but Failed to Perfect It—Once in Penitentiary, but Freed by Judge's Order.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23.—The conviction of John Pipey of St. Louis County of robbery of a Kroger store, June 24, 1929, for which he received a nine-year prison sentence, was affirmed by Division No. 2 of the Missouri Supreme Court today nearly three years after the conviction.

Various factors figured in the delay of four years, eight months between the time of the crime and the final affirmation of the conviction.

Pipey was arrested a few days after the robbery, in which $60 was obtained, and was identified by Fred Baker, the store manager, in the robbery of June 24, 1929, and also in another holdup there the preceding April. He was put on trial March 17, 1931, and convicted. A motion for a new trial was overruled June 15. On July 11 he was sentenced, but a motion for an appeal was allowed the same day.

Appeal Not Perfected.

The appeal papers were not filed in the Supreme Court until June 28, 1932, near the end of the 12 months allowed. The $10 docket fee was not paid, however, and the case was not entered as a perfected appeal. Nothing was done about this omission until 10 months later, when the Attorney-General filed a motion to dismiss the appeal for failure to perfect it. The Supreme Court sustained the motion April 20, 1933, and dismissed the appeal. Pipey was brought to the penitentiary here May 20, 1933, but on June 24, 1933, the fourth anniversary of the robbery, the Supreme Court sustained a motion of his attorneys to set aside the dismissal of the appeal and reinstate it on the ground that the failure to perfect it had been an oversight which was not the fault of Pipey. He was released on appeal bond July 6, 1933.

After one continuance, the appeal was submitted at the last term of Division No. 2. The opinion affirming the conviction was written by Commissioner James A. Cooley and was concurred in by three Judges of the Division.

Other Decisions.

Judge Ellison sustained the conviction and sentence to life imprisonment of Dan Evans, Negro, St. Louis, for the murder of Manuel Glatstein in October, 1930. Glatstein was stabbed by three Negroes who attacked and robbed him in the 1400 block on North Fourteenth street in St. Louis. Evans was tried three times. He was convicted of murder in the first two trials, but each time won a new trial in the lower court.

Life sentences imposed on Elliot Deshon and George Stanton of St. Joseph for the robbery of Miss Edna Robison and her escort in February, 1932, were upheld in an opinion by Judge Tipton.

Lloyd Steenberg must serve a 25-year sentence for robbery of the State Bank of Ray, Gasconade County, under a decision by Judge Ellison. The bank was robbed of $1066 in 1932.

WIFE OF LIEUT. MASSIE FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE AT RENO

Central Figure in Honolulu Attack Case to Ask for Closed Hearing.

By the Associated Press. RENO, Nev., Feb. 23.—Mrs. Thalia Massie, central figure in the Honolulu attack case of 1932, filed suit for divorce from Lieut. Thomas Hedges Massie, young naval officer, in District Court here today.

George Springmeyer, her attorney, said the case probably would be tried this afternoon, and added that he expected to demand a closed hearing.

Mrs. Massie arrived here Jan. 10 to establish residence and said at the time she was "personally reluctant to take such a step." The divorce, she said, would be sought "entirely at the insistence of Lieut. Massie." He is on the U. S. S. Oklahoma at San Pedro, Cal. Her complaint charged cruelty.

The pair married at Washington Nov. 24, 1927.

Boy Scout Campaign Meeting. The suburban district of the St. Louis Boy Scout Council will organize its committee for the Boy Scout campaign for funds at 8 o'clock tonight at Algonquin Country Club. Plans for solicitation of the towns in the district from March 12 to 23 will be made. About 650 workers will take part in the campaign.

PACKERS PLAN TO FIGHT CHARGE OF PRICE-FIXING

Big Concerns Accused by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace of Violations Under Stockyards Act.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Ten large packing companies are preparing to fight accusations of Secretary Wallace that they had fixed retail meat prices and apportioned sales.

Concerns named are Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., Armour & Co., Morris & Co., Cudahy Packing Co., John Morrell & Co., St. Louis Independent Packing Co. (a Swift subsidiary), Jacob Dold Packing Co., Memphis Packing Co., and Abraham Brothers Packing Co.

A complaint, under the packers and stockyards act, charged them with "certain unfair, unjustly discriminatory and deceptive practices and devices," and with having exchanged information on prices and conditions of sale, with price fixing, and with allotting sales. It said the practices occurred chiefly in the area south of Memphis.

The companies have until March 24 to answer. They will be given a hearing April 9, and face a "cease and desist" order from Wallace should the charges be borne out. Court action could be brought for violation of such an order.

Seth Thomas, Agriculture Department solicitor, said complaints from individuals and firms in Southern states prompted an "intensive study by our investigators." Harold H. Swift said yesterday in Chicago: "Swift & Co. deny the charges in the complaint and are confident that there has been no violation of law." Armour & Co. at Chicago today denied the law had been violated. "We are co-operating in every way," the statement said. Denial also was made at Ottumwa by John Morrell & Co.

John H. Hall Denies Charges of Wallace. John H. Hall, president and general manager of the St. Louis Independent Packing Co., 3515 Chouteau avenue, said today the only evidence he was aware of to cause Secretary Wallace to take the action was that of a Chinese jobbing meat merchant who went bankrupt in a small town in Mississippi in 1927.

The packers, in most cases, sell direct to the retailer, Hall said, and the jobber found it impossible to make a profit, under such circumstances. There was no question of underselling him, Hall said. "In fact, we never sold him, and his volume of business was too small to even consider putting him out of business," he said.

"The complaints contradict the companies' policies," he said. "We do not feel that the Secretary has a case against us. We will fight the charges."

CHARLES SCHUNEMAN DIES

Founder of St. Paul Department Store; 84 Years Old. ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 23.—Charles Schuneman, 84 years old, pioneer merchant and a founder of one of the city's largest department stores, died today from complications following an automobile accident in 1932 and a hip fracture suffered later in a fall.

Born in Germany, Mr. Schuneman came to the United States in 1850. He lived in New York, Davenport, Ia., St. Louis and Leavenworth, Kan., as a youth. His widow, and a brother survive.

OF PROMINENT ST. LOUISANS

GENEALOGY BY LAWRENCE DOOGHER

Secy. Society of Colonial Wars in the State of Missouri

If I have a hobby, it very likely is genealogy. Studying the genealogy or the pedigree of people and families is extremely interesting.

The tracing of ancestors back to their native countries such as England, France, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, etc., learning of their occupations, political connections and stations in life reveal intensely interesting facts.

How descendants left their native lands, coming to the new world and how their offspring emigrated from the eastern states into the middle and far west reveals much pathos, romance and chivalry.

To see the unions between families of the different nations and their amalgamations into the citizenship of these United States, reveals the true picture of America.

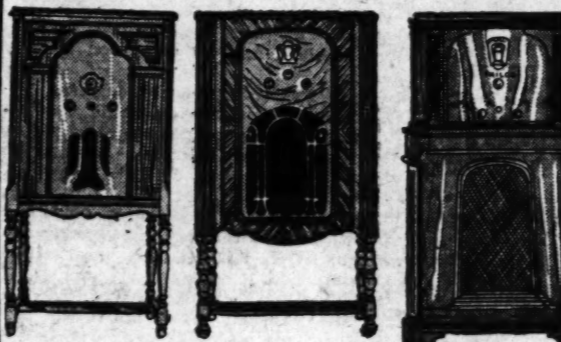

But in addition to these, one of the most pleasing features of such a study is the contact with new and interesting people.

WOMAN MUSICIAN ADMITS KILLING ENGINEER-HUSBAND

Pleads Self-Defense in Statement at Tucson; Is Held in Jail.

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 23.—Sheriff's officers said last night Mrs. Lottie Swinbank, pleading self-defense, had admitted she shot and fatally wounded her husband, John J. Swinbank, Pittsburgh, mechanical engineer, at their home near here. Mrs. Swinbank was held in the county jail pending further investigation.

Swinbank, a winter visitor, was shot through the neck and one shoulder Wednesday night. He died in a Tucson hospital about six hours later.

Mrs. Swinbank appeared calm when questioned by authorities, who said that other than the admission she shot her husband her only statement was: "I am a musician—an artist. He is just an engineer."

Mrs. Swinbank has appeared recently as trombonist with the Tucson Symphony Orchestra.

Officers said they learned Swinbank had been drinking heavily Wednesday afternoon, which his friends said was unusual.

FOUR AMERICANS BANISHED FROM MALLOCA FOUR MONTHS

Action Follows Pardons After Their Conviction of Assaulting a Civil Guard.

MADRID, Feb. 23.—Four Americans who were pardoned early this month after being sentenced to jail for assaulting a civil guard will be banished from Mallorca for four months only, it was learned last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass., Roger F. Meade of New York, and Edmund A. Blodgett of Stamford, Conn., planned to leave Mallorca as soon as their bail has been refunded and to remain in France until the termination of their exile period. The pardons were issued on condition that they leave the Balearics.

William Shaw-Thomson Dies.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—William Shaw-Thomson, advertising man, died last night. He was 47 years old. He was a native of England and served as a Major in the Royal Air Force in the World War. He was formerly president of the Foot & Morgan advertising agency, vice-president of the United Advertising agency, editor of Arts and Decorations and advertising lecturer at Columbia University.

WALLACE DEFENDS NEW MILK POLICY

Replying to Congressmen, He Says It Is Designed to Save Money for Farmers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Replying to charges made by Congressmen against the Farm Administration's handling of the milk and dairy problem, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said its policy was designed to save farmers substantial amounts of money and to assure them actual prices for milk instead of fictitious quotations.

New milk marketing licenses either in force or being prepared, Wallace said yesterday, provide for abolition of the practice of buying milk at low class prices and selling it as fluid milk, elimination of the practice of charging high freight rates out of farmers' returns, reduction of charges for weighing and testing milk, and elimination of terminal charges.

"Farmers," he said, "have been asking that they get paid for their milk on the same basis on which it is sold. This the administration, in its new milk licenses, is endeavoring to assure."

Under the new licenses, Wallace said, power was given for examination of distributors' books so that a continuous check could be made to make sure that farmers were fairly treated.

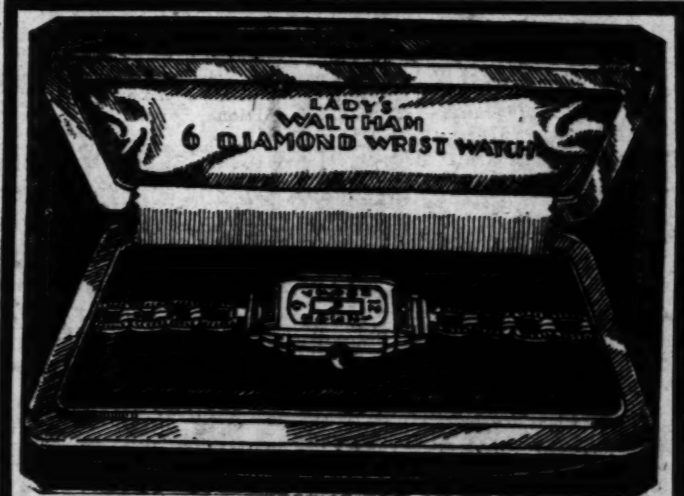

The licenses also provide for a Federal market administrator empowered to regulate activities of distributors and protect producers' interests.

About 100 members of Congress directed a mass attack on the milk plan Wednesday night and adopted a resolution condemning it.

AVIATOR SAVES BURNING HOME

Chases Overhead Until Motor's Roar Arouses Family.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Feb. 23.—The home of the Atwood Knorrs has been saved from fire and their thanks go to an aviator whose identity they do not know. Unmindful that the roof was aflame over their heads, the family continued its supper last night until the roar of an airplane circling above the house aroused their curiosity. Going outside, they discovered the fire. It was extinguished quickly.

Two Killed When Truck Hits Tree
 by the Associated Press.
 FREDONIA, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Two unidentified men, thought to be from Michigan, were burned to death today when their truck crashed into a tree. The accident occurred on United States highway 20, about a mile and a half from here. Coroner Blood said that all the clothing had been burned off the men.

COLLEGE WOMAN FOURTH MATE OF SHIP 'WITHOUT PORTFOLIO'

She Stands Her Regular Watch at Wheel of Freighter While She Studies Navigation.

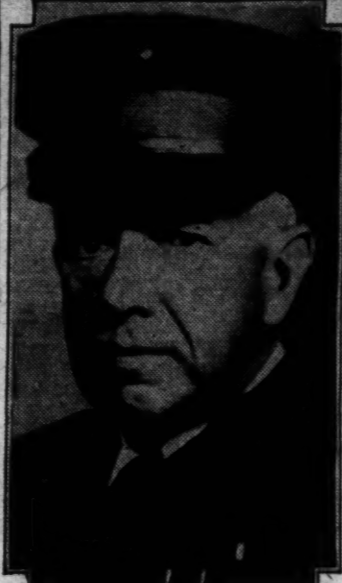

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The freighter Wichita came in yesterday with two mongrel grizzly bears in her hold and a college woman standing the fourth mate's trick on the windswept fore-cabin head.

A full-fledged ship's officer was Miss Florence La Bau of Ridgewood, N. Y. She wore a sailor's coat, a turtle neck sweater and floppy pants. She had a trunk full of feminine fripperies when she sailed, but she put them aside in Shanghai and had a uniform made because she was studying navigation and couldn't be bothered with skirts.

"She had a knowledge of astronomy," Capt. Didrick Holth explained. "A good knowledge for a woman. And so we made her a fourth mate without portfolio. She stood her watch at the wheel. She was useful."

The bears, which the fourth mate named Whisky and Soda, were shepherded by her brother, Hilton La Bau, a Princeton graduate, who was just a common seaman. They are supposed to be rare Tibetan grizzlies which were exhibited at the Academia Sinica in Nanking.

NEW MARINE CHIEF

MAJOR-GENERAL JOHN D. RUSSELL.

WHO has been appointed commandant of the United States Marine Corps. At 62 he has a varied background in both the diplomatic and fighting service.

MAYOR ON THE HIRING OF NON-RESIDENTS

Says Employees From Out of City Are Those With Special Qualifications.

The only city employees who had not resided in the city for at least a year before their appointment are persons hired because of special qualifications and coming under exceptions provided in the Charter. Mayor Dickmann declared in a letter to the Board of Aldermen today.

Last Friday the board adopted a resolution declaring it would not support any appropriation to pay city employees not living here a year before appointment. This was aimed particularly at Miss Elizabeth L. Brezee, statistician for the Health Division, brought here from Albany, N. Y., last summer. Health Commissioner Bredeck has said he could find no St. Louisans qualified for the position. The Efficiency Board exempted her from the residence qualification.

The Mayor pointed out that the one-year residence clause made exception for cases requiring exceptional scientific, mechanical, professional or educational qualifications, as determined by the Efficiency Board, and for day laborers.

The Mayor's Letter.
 "I wish to remind the Board of Aldermen," said the Mayor, "that a great many of the employees placed in the city government during my administration were recommended by others than myself, and it would be physically impossible to get all the true facts concerning applicants. A checkup is being made of all the employees of the city. If any member of the Board of Aldermen has any information tending to show that there is any one in the city's employ who has not resided in the city for one year prior to his appointment or who does not come within the exceptions, I should appreciate being placed in possession of this information."

"It is my desire, and I am sure it is the desire of all heads of departments to comply strictly with the Charter in this respect, as in all others. If, therefore, there has been any imposition on any department by any person, we wish to have all information and facts pertaining to the case."

The Mayor, who left for a meeting of the Young Men's Democratic Club at Jefferson City after sending the letter, expressed himself in thorough sympathy with the principle of the Charter requirement that employees in general should be residents.

Nine Non-Residents.
 Nine of the 284 employees of the Health Division had not lived here a year when appointed. Dr. Bredeck has declared he would name St. Louisans to these positions if he could find qualified persons. Among the nine are six veterinarians especially qualified for the city meat inspection service and a sanitary engineer.

Aldermen also had questioned the appointment of Julius Karty as assistant manager of the Municipal Auditorium, asserting he lived in University City. Karty formerly displayed an Election Board certificate showing he is a city voter. The Efficiency Board made an exception for appointment of Joe Feuchter as efficiency engineer in the Street Division. Feuchter was in private employ of Director of Streets and Sewers McDevitt. Some Aldermen said Feuchter resided in St. Louis County.

UNOFFICIAL VOTE ONLY 97 OFF
 Third of Those Registered Took Part in School Election.

The unofficial count of the vote in last Tuesday's school tax election came within 97 of the official count, announced today by the Election Board.

A total of 86,187 votes was cast in favor of retaining the tax rate of 35 cents on the $100 valuation and $2,649 against, according to the official figures. This was a total vote of 109,836, or 33.3 per cent of the registration of 330,937.

In the unofficial tabulation, 86,141 "yes" votes and 23,996 "no," a total of 110,137, were shown.

RELIEF FOR DROUGHT AREAS

$5,000,000 for Grain and Livestock
Feed for Farmers in West.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The relief administration today announced that $5,000,000 would be spent to buy grain and livestock feed for farmers in drought areas of the West.

The grain will be bought in the individual states by the relief administration. Administrator Hopkins said allotments would be made to the relief administrations of North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and other states having drought-stricken areas. He said the prime necessity was feed for livestock.

Stolen Checks Found in Sewer.
Checks totaling $1251, stolen Dec. 18 in the holdup of Serefino D'Alencastre, secretary of V. Viviano & Bros. Macaroni Manufacturing Co., 1023 North Seventh street, were recovered yesterday from a sewer at California and Eads avenues. The 23 checks, contained in a paper bag, were found by a Negro sewer cleaner, who turned them over to police. The men robbed D'Alencastre of the checks and $100 cash.

NEW PRESIDENT OF COMMERCE BODY

THOMAS N. DYSART

T. N. DYSART HEADS COMMERCE CHAMBER

Former Investment Banker
Elected to Succeed Walter B. Weisenburger.

The election of Thomas N. Dysart, former investment banker, as president of the Chamber of Commerce was announced yesterday by William T. Nardin, chairman of the board of directors.

He succeeds Walter B. Weisenburger who resigned Wednesday to go to New York as vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Dysart was a partner in the firm of Knight, Dysart & Gamble until its dissolution and absorption by Harris, Upham & Co. of New York in 1932. He was president of the Investment Bankers' Association in 1925, and in the same year served as first vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce.

As one of its organizers, Dysart was first president of the Industrial Club. During the World War he was active in Liberty Loan campaigns, in 1924 he was chairman of the Community Fund and in 1930 headed the Campaign Committee for continuation of the 85-cent school tax.

He is a graduate of Washington University and a former president of the Noonday Club.

"My chief aim," Dysart said, "will be to carry forward the splendid work being done by the Chamber under the direction of Mr. Weisenburger, to expand the scope of its activities and, where necessary, to adjust its activities to meet ever-changing conditions."

GUARD AT ZOO SHOOTSELF TO DEATH AT HOME

Suicide Discovered When He Failed to Report for Work; No Notes Found.

Clarence J. Beine, 36 years old, a guard at the Zoo, shot and killed himself last night at 3632 Cleveland avenue, a rooming house.

When Beine failed to report for work last night the superintendent, Samuel Arnett, telephoned the rooming house. The proprietor, L. F. Heine, went to Beine's room and found him dead on the floor, a bullet wound in his head. A .38-caliber revolver was beside the body. There were no notes.

Last Tuesday Beine was arrested by detectives, who found him carrying an unloaded revolver wrapped in newspaper. A warrant was refused and he was released. To officers, who questioned him at that time because he appeared extremely nervous, he explained that he was in ill-health, due to being gassed while serving overseas during the World War.

PERMITS, FILING OF FRISCO MANAGERS' EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Court Acts on $372,000 Item in Connection With Reorganization Plan.

Permission to file the $372,000 expense account of readjustment managers of the Frisco Railroad was granted by Federal Judge Farris today to Emmett Carter of counsel for the managers.

Frank A. Thompson, counsel for John G. Lonsdale, trustee, obtained authority to delay for 15 days his answer, and attorneys for several bondholders' committees obtained permission to intervene within that time.

Thompson said yesterday he would ask the Court to direct the return of all or part of a $400,000 appropriation the railroad made to the readjustment managers to further its reorganization plan, recently abandoned. The report of the readjustment managers states that $204,105 of the fund already has been expended and that they have unpaid obligations of $168,883.

STATE ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR AUTO CODE APPOINTED

It Will Handle Complaints of Violations; Six St. Louisans Are Members.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23.—A State Advisory Committee to obtain and determine complaints of violations of the national motor vehicle code of fair competition was set up yesterday at a meeting of nearly 500 members of the National Automobile Dealers' Association of Missouri. The meeting was held at the Alcoa State farm near here.

The committee, comprising 21 members, will act as a judicial body and pass on any evidence of code violations submitted to it. Used car dealers, as well as dealers of new automobiles, are represented on the committee.

F. W. A. Vesper, St. Louis, president of the National Automobile Dealers' Association and chairman of the National Motor Vehicle Code Committee, praised the National Recovery Act, and predicted that the automobile code was here to stay.

Members of the State Advisory Committee include Vesper, Jack C. Aufferberg, Milton Strauss, G. M. Berry, D. E. Castles and G. A. Billgere of St. Louis.

TRAIN HITS TRUCK, CWA MAN KILLED IN SHREWSBURY

Sidney Stark, 33, Loses Life in Crash at Gratiot Avenue Crossing After Leaving Quarry.

Sidney Stark, 33-year-old CWA worker, was killed yesterday afternoon when a truck he was driving was struck by the Frisco Bluebonnet, westbound passenger train, at the Gratiot avenue crossing in Shrewsbury.

The truck, which had been loaded with five tons of rock at a nearby quarry, was carried a distance of 30 feet and the load scattered along the right-of-way.

Stark, thrown clear of the wreckage, suffered a head injury, internal injuries and a broken right arm and right leg. He died of a brain hemorrhage at St. Mary's Hospital three and a half hours after the accident.

Employed in connection with the ripraping project on the open section of the River des Peres, Stark was on his way with rock used in the work. He resided at 4842A Newberry terrace with his wife and three small children.

The crossing is protected by flashing lights and a warning bell.

Baby Born in Sleigh.

By the Associated Press.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., Feb. 23.—It was below zero when Dr. M. R. Elliott started from Wolfville on an emergency call from an expectant mother. He had covered about half the distance when a horse and sleigh appeared. In it sat a man and a woman, and cuddled in blankets lay an eight-pound boy—born in the blizzard as the father and mother struggled to reach a hospital. The child and his mother are doing nicely.

will vote on a $2,000,000 school bond issue and a $10,000,000 State building bond issue, making a total of $28,100,000 on the ballot.

The only comment in the board was by Alderman Terry (Dem.), who said: "I have been opposed to large bond issue at this time, but after carefully considering this bill it is my opinion there are certain items which safeguard the health and safety of the people, and I think it should be submitted to their consideration. I refer particularly to the hospital item and the elimination of grade crossings."

Terry's father, Albert T. Terry, with whom the Alderman is associated in the real estate business, was on a committee of the Real Estate Exchange which opposed the issue at an Aldermanic hearing.

The total cost of the city improvement is estimated at $20,220,- 000. The city has applied to the PWA for grants to make up the difference.

Budget Bill Passed.
The supplementary budget bill, appropriating $1,034,437 for city departments for the windup of the fiscal year, was passed. It had been the subject of debate in the Ways and Means Committee. Mayor Dickmann criticized the committee for delaying the bill. Vice-President Golden, chairman of the committee, delivered a defense of this group on the floor. He charged the Board of Estimate and Apportionment with delaying the measure and justified the committee's discussion of it as a protection for taxpayers. Terry said the budget bill had been shelved temporarily in order to insure quick action on the bond issue bill.

An appropriation of $350,000 from relief bond funds for work relief or purchase of materials for use by CWA workers was voted. The board also approved an appropriation of $151,450 for January relief expenses of the Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment.

The latter measure had been before the Ways and Means Committee earlier today, calling for $605,- 000 for January to April, inclusive.
On motion of Alderman Slay (Dem.) it was reduced in committee to cover one month. Four of the six other members of the committee agreed with Slay's view that Citizens' Committee expenditures should be investigated and the payroll of its administrative employees studied.

Says Mayor Has List.
Alderman Hastey (Dem.) asserted the Aldermen had been trying since June to get a list of Citizens' Committee employees. Golden said the Citizens' Committee had sent the list to Mayor Dickmann, its honorary chairman, several weeks ago. Golden and Terry, approving the work of Citizens' Committee, voted for the four-month appropriation. They were outvoted by Alderman Slay, Hastey, Litcher (Dem.), Bergmann (Rep.) and Lange (Rep.) Lange complained that the Citizens' Committee did not spread its purchases widely enough.

A bill was introduced by Alderman Golden to require establishments selling beer of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content or less to close between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. and all day Sunday. It would not permit such stores to remain open for the sale of other goods. Golden explained the intention was to protect against competition, vendors of stronger beer and intoxicating liquors, who will have to pay a city license fee. The State law does not permit taxation of 3.2 beer by the city. Places selling hard liquor by the drink would have to close only between midnight and 6 a. m., and on Sundays.

ON TOWER GROVE PARK BOARD

E. R. Kinsey Elected to Fill a Vacancy.

E. R. Kinsey, consulting engineer and former president of the Board of Public Service, has been elected by the board of commissioners of Tower Grove Park to fill a vacancy on the board. He succeeds Louis
A. Hoerr, president of the Western Railway Equipment Co., who died last May 26.

There are four other members of the board, which is headed by Dr. George T. Moore, director of Shaw's Garden. It was set up under the will of Henry Shaw, who established the park and the garden. The commissioners are not salaried.

Crew Sticks to Grounded Tanker.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 23.— Apparently free from immediate danger of breaking up, the oil tanker Swiftsagle lay grounded on San Benito Island, 459 miles south of here, today with the Coast Guard cutter Shoshone standing by. With 75,000 barrels of fuel oil aboard, the tanker left here Feb. 6 for New York and went aground Wednesday night. It lost its boilers and was pounded severely by heavy seas, but the ocean became calmer yesterday and the crew of 22 decided to remain aboard.

AVIATOR BURNED TO DEATH
Plane Turns Over in Landing and Burns Into Flames.
By the Associated Press.
BRUNSWICK, Md., Feb. 23.—

W. T. Henley, Washington aviator, was burned to death when his airplane turned over in a forced landing near here yesterday afternoon. Two men were burned in an attempt to rescue him.

Henley's motor cut out soon after he took off from a farm field, according to Sgt. Douglas Kendall, airplane mechanic at Bolling Field, Washington, who saw the crash. The pilot tried to get back to the field but the under carriage caught in some underbrush and the ship nosed over into a ditch. It immediately burst into flames. Kendall and Joseph Carey of Brunswick suffered burns around their hands and arms in a futile effort to get Henley out of the burning ship.

BLIND MAN IS PROUD OF WOOD RIVER AWARD
B. M. Harrod, "Outstanding Citizen," Known for His Remarkable Memory.

Bryant M. Harrod, blind proprietor of a news agency in Wood River, who was voted that town's outstanding citizen at a mass meeting held there Wednesday night, is best known by his neighbors for his remarkable memory, not only the memory he has when collecting the month's bill for the newspapers, but also his memory for names.

When almost any of the town's citizens meet him on the street and says, "Hello, Bryant," Harrod is certain to return the greeting with the correct name.

It was his memory for names and figures when collecting bills that first marked him as a personality to Wood River's 8000 citizens. That was in 1917, soon after he had finished five years of teaching for the Illinois School for the Blind. He was out of a job when he started his newspaper agency for Wood River and neighboring towns. He had four St. Louis, two Alton, and occasionally some Chicago papers to deliver.

Keeps Accounts in Braille.
When it came to collecting the bill at the end of the month, he knew exactly how many papers of each kind each one of his subscribers had received and how much money they owed him. At home he kept scrupulously correct accounts in Braille.

The honor of being the first to receive the award, to be made annually hereafter, came to Harrod unexpectedly, although he felt that something out of the ordinary was going to happen because of the several mysterious conferences his wife had been holding with the men on the Lions' Club committee which made the award.

"I knew they were going to do something for me and that it was to be a surprise," he said. "But I didn't say anything about it because I didn't want to spoil their fun."

The award was made at a meeting sponsored by Wood River service clubs and civic organizations—a meeting which Harrod would not have attended except for his wife's insistence.

When he was led up to the stage to receive the trophy, he was, despite his premonition, completely bewildered. All he could say was: "This is the happiest day of my life except for the day I was married."

Harrod was married in 1922 and his wife now helps him in his business by keeping the accounts. They have two adopted children, Minor and Ruth, both 8 years old. The trophy which he received will be placed on the mantel above the fireplace in their home.

Blinded by Kick of Horse.
Harrod, who is 47 years old, has been blind since he was 13, when he was kicked by a horse while making hay on his father's farm in Ohio. When he isn't busy directing his 22 newsboys he is reading, in Braille, the latest book sent to him from the School for the Blind. He was trying to read Sherlock Holmes yesterday but too many people dropped in to congratulate him to allow him to make much progress in it.

On the desk, ready to go back, was T. E. Lawrence's "Revolt in the Desert," which he "enjoyed immensely." The best book he read recently, he said, was one on unemployment by Prof. Paul H. Douglas of Chicago University.

His favorite sport is fishing and the best he ever had was last summer in the mountain lakes of Colorado. He has been to Yellowstone Park twice, and once to California. Last summer he went to the Chicago Exposition. On all his trips he and on their return he gives a good description of it to his friends. He has smoked "since I was a kid" and says that the general belief that smoking isn't a pleasure if one can't see the smoke is "all booh." He prefers a pipe.

NEW MANAGEMENT TO TAKE OVER MISSION INN OPERATION Agreement Reached by Receiver and Realty Firm With George Pirone, Restaurant Man.
Operation of Anschutz's Mission Inn at Grand boulevard and Magnolia avenue under new management is planned as the result of an agreement entered into by former Circuit Judge Killoren, receiver for the restaurant, the Hauschulte Real Estate Co., holders of a mortgage on the property, and George Pirone, restaurant operator.
Pirone has arranged to lease the inn, which he will conduct as a restaurant and drinking place, for a period of two years, with rents ranging up from $250 a month for the first six months to $400 for the last six months period. He will have an option for renewal at the end of that period.
Outstanding indebtedness against the property includes $73,000 on the principal of the mortgage, $5000 in accrued interest and $1000 in back taxes. The real estate company will collect the rents under the new agreement.
Strikers Get 40 Pct. Increase.
By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 23.—A strike of 600 employees of dry cleaning plants was ended yesterday with an agreement calling for an increase of 40 per cent in wages and an increase of cleaning prices to meet the wage hike.

MUNICIPAL LOTTERY PROPOSED IN NEW YORK
Alderman Drafting Enabling Legislation for Introduction in Assembly.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A proposal for a municipal lottery, with the Republic of Panama doing the banking, was the latest wrinkle today in budget-balancing helps for Gotham.

Alderman Elias H. Jacobs, Manhattan fusionist, proposed the lottery idea to Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and is drafting enabling legislation for introduction in the State Legislature.

The administration remained silent on the suggestion, though Alderman Jacobs said he received the impression Mayor La Guardia might react favorably.

Jacobs originally introduced a resolution in the Board of Aldermen for a plan by which the city would run off 10 lotteries a year, each lottery to consist of 2,500,000 tickets at $2 each. Forty-five per cent of the proceeds would be kept by the city, the rest going into prizes.

Growing out of this proposal came a supplementary one today from, according to Jacobs, the Secretary of the Panamanian Legation at Washington suggesting a partnership between New York City and Panama in the lottery business.

In a telegram to Jacobs, the Alderman said, the Legation Secretary suggested that Panama be permitted to sell lottery tickets in New York in return for a 15 per cent "split" of the gross value of all Panama lottery tickets sold here.

According to Jacobs, the estimate on income from this would be about $5,000,000 a year. His own proposal would net the city about $50,000,000 annually he estimated.

Such a plan, Jacobs said, would go a long way toward furnishing the hard-pressed city administration with necessary operating funds while at the same time legalizing the urge to gamble. New York now has a budget deficit for 1934 of about $55,000,000.

What's happening to you? —and what can you do about it?

YOUR JOB, your dollar, your tax rate, your standard of living, even your future, are today tied close to your government. You find yourself more interested in what is going on than you ever did before. You welcome clear, simply stated facts that deal with your problem. How can you answer the puzzling questions that crowd every single day? Here is a satisfying, time-saving way:

Consult the one personal journal of public affairs that brings you facts and their meaning in terms of your own life. Its name is TODAY. To carry out so practical a purpose, TODAY must call on practical men. Men of authority. Leaders active in watching and working out the trend of local, national, international world happenings. Such as:

- William Hard—Internationally known reporter and confidant of men in power.
- The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin—Famous for his radio talks and a leader in shaping 1934 public opinion.
- Sherwood Anderson—Close-range observer of changing America, whose writing always carries a deep, personal flavor.
- Rexford Tugwell—Active worker in the New Deal.
- Samuel Untermyer—Great challenger on moot issues in public life.
- Ernest K. Lindley—Washington correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune and author of the important book entitled "The Roosevelt Revolution."
- Mary Ross—Authority on social problems as they exist today.
- John Erskine—Popular moderns author.
- Richard Whitney—President of the New York Stock Exchange.
- John J. Leary—Veteran reporter of labor disputes.

All these men have recently written for TODAY. Some of them are regular contributors. The list is far from complete. This week, for example, TODAY brings you:

- Frederick L. Bird—High authority on municipal indebtedness, who explains why you, the average American, carry a personal debt-load of $122 for the activities of local governments.
- Paul Vanorden Shaw—Recently returned from Cuba, clears up the disordered Cuban picture for you, revealing the grievances that torment the island republic at our door.
- Frederic C. Howe—Consumer's counsel for the AAA (Agricultural Adjustment Administration), shows you how your dollar was born and why it is such a strangely complicated thing today.
- Henry B. Steagall—Co-author of the Goldborough-Steagall Bill, outlines his plan for the control of your money by the government.
- Monitor—TODAY'S observer of European affairs, explains the events in Vienna which threaten the peace of Europe ... and our own peace as well.
- Lewis Wood—Member of the New York Times' Staff in Washington, takes you behind the scenes, in the activities of today's political under-dog, the Republican party, and its leader, Bertrand H. Snell.

Don't miss one single issue of TODAY. Pick up your copy now before your newsdealer's supply is sold out.

Outlining Soviets' Second 5-Year Plan

VIACHESLAV M. MOLOTOV,
CHAIRMAN of the Council of the People's Commissars of Soviet Russia, in the Tribune, addressing the 17th Congress of the Bolshevik party in Moscow. In addition to describing the new five-year plan he told of Russia's preparation for the protection of its borders, with particular reference to the Siberian-Manchukuo frontier.

SOCIAL WORK SURVEY
PLANS ARE OUTLINED

Course of St. Louis Study in Five Fields Discussed at Welfare Committee Meeting.

Plans for the future course of a survey of St. Louis social work programs now in progress were outlined yesterday at a meeting of the Welfare Plan Committee, under whose auspices the survey is being made.

Tom K. Smith, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting, held at Hotel Chase, and introduced the Rev. John O'Grady, secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, and C. C. Stillman, director of the School of Social Administration of Ohio State University, two of the directors of the survey. The third director, Harry L. Lurie, of the Jewish Social Research Bureau, was unable to attend.

Philip Klein in Charge.
Philip Klein, who is in immediate charge of the study, discussed the five fields to be covered: Dependency, child welfare, leisure-time activities, the Negro in industry and health service.

The child welfare survey, Klein said, will be based partly on similar studies made in 1927 and 1928 by the Child Welfare League of America and Father O'Grady. Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and non-sectarian agencies will be studied, Klein said.

Under the heading of dependency will be considered population changes in St. Louis and the county, the relative growth of various races and nationalities, economic trends in this industrial area, wages, living costs, labor organization, and analysis of the volume of relief that has been required.

Both public and private facilities for leisure-time activity will be considered with a view to determining the adequacy of such programs and their probable future development.

Health and Hospital Branch.
The possibility of transforming excess hospital plants into institutions for other services is one of the inquiries to be made under the health and hospital branch of the

DOG CAUSES MASTER'S ARREST FOR MAIL THEFT CONSPIRACY

Former Clerk on Warship Traced by Stunts Performed by Pet Spitz.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—A spitz dog furnished the clues that led to the arrest of its master, James B. Judd, on mail theft conspiracy charges, Postoffice Inspector C. D. Lowe said yesterday.

Lowe told the Federal grand jury Judd was traced to Annapolis, Md., where he is under arrest, through train porters and baggage car workers who recalled seeing Whitey, the dog, do stunts between Long Beach, Cal., and Annapolis. Judd formerly was assistant mail clerk on the U. S. S. Arizona. The inspector said Judd deserted the navy Jan. 27 and Carroll D. Phillips, chief mail clerk on the Arizona, disappeared Feb. 1, after learning their handling of the ship's mail was being investigated. Phillips is under arrest in New Orleans. Sixty registered and 60 ordinary letters disappeared from the Arizona's mail.

survey, and an effort will be made to determine what type of health council organization is needed to assure progressive development of the community's health services.

The study of the Negro in industry will include wage levels and trade union conditions, types of industries in which they are employed, the extent to which preference is given to white workers, occupational training provided by Negro schools and living and housing conditions.

E. G. Steger, director of the Community Council, said the survey presents the first opportunity the city has had to evaluate its social work program through the eyes of outsiders. Because of the emergency measures adopted in recent years, he said, the survey will be of value in integrating relief and welfare programs of the various agencies. He added, however, that each agency will be free to accept or reject the recommendations of the survey directors.

MILWAUKEE PAYS OFF IN DEPRESSION YEARS

Retiring Bonds at Rate That Will Clear All in 9 or 10 Years.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 23.—In the municipal treasury of Milwaukee is $4,229,000 which the city will use to retire bonds maturing next July. The Socialist Mayor, Daniel
W. Hoan, has been trying to coax security holders to the City Hall to call for their money, because he wants to save interest charges for four months. But not a bond has been presented for redemption.
Moreover, still hiding in vaults, is $28,000 of the bonds of a $900,000 issue which the city started taking up in January.

The Mayor takes pride in the bond fund as "a $4,000,000 argument that our credit is good."
"In the worst years of the depression, Milwaukee held down bond issues to $1,100,000," the Mayor observed. "In that same period we will have retired $12,000,000 in bonds, which will accomplish a net reduction in bonded debt of about $11,000,000. No bonds have been issued since 1932, and if we continue to retire old issues without replacing them, the entire bonded debt will be wiped out in nine or 10 years. This will be accomplished with the help of the amortization fund, which now amounts to nearly $5,000,000 and which grows at the rate of about $1,000,000 a year."
To keep credit unimpaired under the impact of the depression, despite a growing volume of tax delinquencies, the Mayor has had to resort to financial strategies which caused a storm of controversy. The "baby bond" was invented. Taxes were delinquent. The cash didn't come to the treasury to meet current expenses. So the administration printed bonds of small denomination, paying 8 per cent interest and secured by the properties on which taxes were unpaid.
City employees are paid, partly in cash and partly in "baby bonds."
The bonds are redeemable in cash

CONGRESSMAN DIES AFTER MAKING SPEECH

Hooper of Michigan Had Just Attacked Emergency Air Mail Bill

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Representative Joseph L. Hooper of Battle Creek, who was serving his fifth term from the Third Michigan District, collapsed in his office early last night after delivering a speech in the House, and died shortly afterward of a heart attack. He was alone and awaiting a copy of the transcript of his address to revise it for the Congressional Record.

Mr. Hooper, a Republican, came to Congress in 1925 as the result of a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Arthur V. Williams, and had served continuously since that time.

Only a short time ago he had formally announced his decision to retire from Congress after the expiration of his present term and to return to Battle Creek to resume the practice of law.

Many of his colleagues had talked with him during the day and heard his address. He appeared in good health.

He had practiced law in Battle Creek since 1899 and had served as City Attorney and later as Prosecuting Attorney of Calhoun County. He was born in Cleveland, but received his early education in Battle Creek. He was 56 years old.

His final speech was directed at the emergency air mail bill. He declared "the word 'emergency' has become a mere shibboleth to this administration."

"It has become a mere slogan for the purpose of forcing a ready Congress to enact measures amazing, extraordinary in every sense of the word, and I have been wondering month by month how far it will go."

"Perhaps when the next inauguration comes, perhaps when that pagan roll down Constitution avenue will have been changed to 'Emergency avenue.'"

His death reduces to six the number of Michigan Republicans in the House.

YOUTH ARRESTED AS SPEEDER, ADMITS STEALING MACHINE

Driver Says He Took Auto From Lot; His Three Companions Are Released

After arresting a youthful driver for speeding last night, traffic policemen discovered the car in which the youth was riding was a stolen one.

Patrolmen Galinski and Schumacker, in a department auto, saw an automobile speeding west on Manchester avenue. They caught it after a three-block chase and ordered the driver, with his three companions, to go to the Mounted District Station.

When the driver, Earl Dillree, 18 years old, 3859 Folsom avenue, was booked, his companions set out in the automobile to get a bondman. They scarcely had departed when Dillree told the officers that his companions were "likely to get into trouble. That's a stolen car."

Dillree, according to police, said he had stolen the automobile from a lot at Thirty-ninth and Rutgers streets and had picked up his companions later. An immediate radio broadcast resulted in the arrest of the companions and the car was recovered. Tracing ownership to Robert Stephens, 3863 Folsom avenue, police learned that Stephens had not known the automobile was stolen. Dillree was held on the additional charge of theft of the car but his companions were released.

MARRIED MAN, GIRL, FOUND FATALLY SHOT IN HOTEL ROOM

By the Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 23.—Deputy Constable Jesse Baird, 38 years old, and Miss Ernestine Perryman, 17, were found fatally shot in a hotel room yesterday.

The girl's mother had reported to police that she had been missing from home since Monday. Baird was married and had two children. A note found in the room said, "You forced us to do it. Now, I hope you are satisfied. Ernie and Jess." Police had a report that the girl had shot at Baird recently while they were staying at another downtown hotel.

CHICAGO EXPOSITION APPROVED Third Special Session Votes Unanimously on Bills

By the Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 23.—Final legislative approval was given yesterday for the reopening this year of the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago. With virtually no debate and a 135 to 0 vote, the House of Representatives passed the two bills authorizing the world's fair to use again the land on Chicago's lake front for the international exposition.

The fair bills were passed by the Senate last week and are ready for signing. They were hurried through the third special session to permit the exposition to proceed with the signing of contracts and other preliminary work.

DEPLORES THE ACT

Government Decrees State

Northern Part of Country

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 23.—

In anticipation of possible reprisal for the killing yesterday of Gen. Augusto (sometimes Augustino) Cesar Sandino, famous Nicaraguan revolutionary, the Government today decreed a "state of siege."

Gen. Sandino, his brother, Socrates Sandino, and two of his friends and former Generals, Imazor and Estrada, were shot to death by National Guardsmen on the outskirts of Managua. The General had incurred the enmity of the National Guard with a declaration of insistence that the National Guard was an unconstitutional organization.

There were no indications today of any uprising among Gen. Sandino's followers in Northern Nicaragua, nevertheless the state of siege was declared as a precautionary measure. President Juan B. Sacasa is vested with special authority to maintain order in what was described as "an abnormal situation."

The Government, deploring the killings, issued a communique saying that Gen. Sandino, his brother, and Imazor and Estrada were shot by guardsmen who kidnaped them and took them to the outskirts of Managua. The guardsmen, the communique said, acted "in spite of strict instructions to extend complete guarantees to the Sandino element."

Sandino's Father Tells Story. Gregorio Sandino, father of the General, and one of the last to see him alive, gave his version of events preceding the shooting in an interview at the presidential palace, where he is a guest.

The four who were killed, together with Gregorio Sandino and Minister of Agriculture Sofonias Salvatierra, had had dinner at the Salvatierra home and returned to the palace in an automobile.

"At the main gate we were stopped by guardsmen," said the elder Sandino. "Salvatierra, myself and the chauffeur were requested to get out of the machine."

"The rest were driven to the east side of town. I am told that on passing the Salvatierra home the guardsmen attempted to find and apprehend another of my son's aids, Gen. Ferrell, who was housed there. During the commotion a son-in-law of Salvatierra was killed."

"My sons and the two others were then driven southward to a barrio (village) called La Reynaga, on the eastern outskirts of Managua. Shortly afterwards shots were heard and it is believed that Augusto and his companions were killed and buried there."

Gen. Sandino, who laid down his arms last fall after five years of fighting with the Nicaraguan Government, supported by United States marines, at one time said: "I am destined to die with a bullet in my back."

Sandino's Trouble With Guards.

Dr. Leonardo Arguello, Foreign Minister, said Sandino, who was on good terms with President Sacasa, had come to Managua "to arrange with the President ways and means to reach a solution on how to terminate conflicts that had arisen between his men and the National Guard."

The National Guard took the field against Sandino when United States marines were withdrawn Jan. 1, 1932, until Sandino made his peace and retired on a sort of subsidy to farm an agricultural colony on the Coco River in Northern Nicaragua.

The guards were Sandino's enemies. The night before he was killed he published in a newspaper a letter calling the National Guard "unconstitutional." That attitude of Sandino's was reported to have caused recent friction with guards officers. Sandino had said it before.

Fear of "Imperialism" U. S. Sandino's hatred of "imperialistic" United States was based on profound distrust coupled with personal ambition to establish a Spanish-American league of nations to counteract the United States' domination.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 23.—In anticipation of possible reprisal for the killing yesterday of Gen. Augusto (sometimes Augustino) Cesar Sandino, famous Nicaraguan revolutionary, the Government today decreed a "state of siege."

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ACTS TO TAKE OVER ALL GOLD

Finance Minister Offers Bill Providing for Central Bank, Dominion to Get Profits in Transfer.

By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 23.—E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, introduced in the House of Commons yesterday a bill providing for the establishment of a central bank, which would take over all gold in Canada.

The measure would require banks to surrender to the proposed bank all the gold they own and hold in Canada and any profits resulting from the sale or devaluation of such gold would be paid to the Dominion Government for the consolidated revenue fund. Profits on gold held by a chartered bank against liabilities elsewhere, it was provided, shall belong to the chartered bank.

The Governor-in-Council would be given power to require every person owning gold in Canada to transfer such gold to the bank of Canada.

The constitution and powers of the new depository, which would be called the Bank of Canada, would follow the lines of a royal commission's report recommending public ownership of the capital stock and management by a board of directors appointed by the Government and subsequently by the shareholders. Its chief officers would be appointed first by the Government, with later appointments made by the directors with the approval of the Governor-in-Council.

Chartered banks would be barred from holding shares in the projected institution, as would directors, officers, and employees of chartered banks. The Bank of Canada would be given the sole right to issue notes subject only to a limited circulation of notes by chartered banks.

Functions now performed by the Finance Department in the issue of Dominion notes would be assured by the new bank, which would reserve in place of them Bank of Canada notes.

The bill also provides that chartered banks at first will have the right to issue notes to the amount of their paid up capital, but this right will be abridged from year to year.

While our support extends broadly to all the major efforts of your administration," said the teachers, "we wish to single out for special commendation that which has received more criticism perhaps than any other at the hands of our professional colleagues—namely, your monetary policy."

They said they considered the deliberate departure from the gold standard one of the "rare occasions since the war when a government both foresaw danger and took action to avoid it." They called the abandonment of the gold standard "an absolutely indispensable prerequisite to the adoption of your other policies of reform and recovery."

"Otherwise," they said, "every proposal would have been opposed on the ground that it might endanger the maintenance of the gold standard. ... We applaud your determination to vary the gold content of the dollar if the occasion arises, although we hope you will not feel it necessary to confine yourselves within too narrow limits."

The message was signed by J. Raymond Walsh, Lauchlin Currie, John B. Crane, John M. Cassel, Robert K. Lamb and Alan R. Swezey.

Plan Pending to Put Back on Rolls Those Who Had Disabilities of Presumptive Service Origin.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—An effort to restore to World War veterans all the benefits that were taken from them by the economy law was defeated in the Senate yesterday.

The Senate rejected, 60 to 14, an amendment by Senator Hatfield (Rep.) of West Virginia that would have repealed all sections of the economy law that affected veterans. It was estimated that the amendment would have cost $250,000,000 to $300,000,000.

Hatfield offered the proposal as a rider to an administration compromise that Byrnes (Dem.), of South Carolina had proposed to attach to the independent offices appropriation bill. The Byrnes amendment would restore to the rolls thousands of veterans whose disabilities were presumed to have been of service origin before the economy act and who were taken off compensation by review boards since the act was passed last March.

After rejection of the Hatfield amendment the Senate recessed until Monday under a debate-limiting agreement to speed passage of the bill.

The Byrnes amendment would grant veterans restored to the rolls 75 per cent of the compensation they had been getting until their cases were passed upon by the Veterans' Board of Appeals. If the board restored them permanently to the rolls they would get the full pre-economy law benefits.

It also would enact into law the recent presidential regulation providing free hospitalization for needy veterans of all wars, provided veterans' hospital facilities are available, and free domiciliary care for permanently disabled.

Party Lines Broken.
Eleven Republicans, two Democrats and the Farmer-Laborite, Shipstead, voted for the Hatfield amendment. Fifteen Republicans joined 45 Democrats in opposition.

Hatfield said it was a "great injustice" to say only 5421 Spanish War veterans had injuries directly connected with war service and that the same principle applied to World War veterans "when you tell me $60,000 removed from the rolls are not entitled to help."

Byrnes replied that 20,000, or 6 per cent of the Spanish War veterans were able to provide service connection for their disabilities, a requirement under the economy law.

Robinson (Rep.), Indiana, made the most vigorous assault on the economy law. He said soldiers had been "kicked out of hospitals like

ANOTHER SOCIALIST IS HANGED IN VIENNA

Two Condemned With Him

Communations.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, Feb. 23.—Another member of the Socialist Republican guard was hanged last night for participating in the uprising last week. Two others were condemned to die with him on the gallows in Linz, but their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment. The three were accused of killing the occupants of a military automobile. The execution was the ninth since the outbreak of the warfare more than a week ago.

"We cannot but respect the bravery of the Socialists and their loyalty to their ideals," said Chancellor Dollfus during a meeting with foreign correspondents. "We must do all we can to heal the open wounds."

A similar tribute was uttered by Prince Schöenburg-Hartenstein, Under-Secretary for Defense, who said that "the Republican guard fought bravely and, if it were not for our artillery, we should have been beaten."

Memorial plaques honoring "rebel" burgomasters in Vienna's history have been removed from the city hall arcade and the Christian cross was restored to a place of honor in the burgomaster's office—now the Federal Commissioner's office—with a dedication by Cardinal Innitzer.

A special concentration camp was prepared near Vienna for the temporary incarceration of Socialists.

MURDER OF JUDGE IN FRANCE LAID TO ORGANIZED GANG

Minister of Interior Says Group is Trying to Block Stavisky Inquiry by Terrorism.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Feb. 23.—Premier Doumergue called today for the capture, dead or alive, of the slayer of Judge Albert Prince, "the man who knew all" in the Stavisky banking scandal.

The Premier's order went out after Minister of the Interior Albert Sarraut declared he believed France in the grip of a gang determined to block the investigation. The Government offered 100,000 francs (about $6500) for the arrest and conviction of the slayer.

Belief grew in official circles today that the Judge was murdered because he knew too much. Police said they were baffled by conflicting tales of the killing.

Bound, Judge Prince's body was found on a railway track near Dijon Wednesday. Nearby lay a knife. His brief case had been rifled.

He had been killed the day before he was to have testified in an investigation into the collapse of Serge Stavisky's pawnshop.

Two former Premier Edouard Daladier's Ministers were expelled from organizations today "because of their attitude" during the recent Paris riots when forces guarding the Chamber of Deputies fired on the crowds.

Former Air Minister Pierre Cot was expelled from the "Old Times" Veterans' Association.

Guy la Chambre, who was Minister of Merchant Marine and Daladier's right-hand man, was ousted from the Fencing Club, and six municipal councillors at Saint Servan, where La Chambre is Mayor, resigned because they refuse to sit on the Council with him.

The Municipal Council of Bayonne resigned to a man, meanwhile, after a demonstration by a crowd against the city government elected with Deputy Joseph Garat, Mayor of the city, who was arrested in connection with the Stavisky pawnshop scandal.

SECOND KIDNAPING PLOTTER GUARDED

Precaution in Chicago to Prevent Man From Ending Life as Accomplice Did.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Jack Wyman (or Lacy) is under guard today for prosecution in the attempted $40,000 ransom kidnaping of Emanuel P. Adler, wealthy Davenport (Ia.) publisher and banker.

To prevent the prisoner from killing himself as did his confessed accomplice, Charles W. Mayo, police kept a 24-hour guard outside Wyman's cell at the Detective Bureau.
Mayo, after confessing his part in the abduction plot, hanged himself at the Marquette Police Station with a noosed scarf tied to the top bars of his cell yesterday. He had been allowed to keep his overcoat in his cell and the scarf was in a pocket.

Before he was told of the suicide Wyman made a confession to the plot to police. Wyman said he was the one who hit Adler on the head with a blackjack in the fifth floor corridor of the Morrison Hotel. They had planned, he said, to drug Adler and ship his unconscious body out of the hotel in a trunk perforated with air holes.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH'S SHIP
BALLAST TO REBUILD FORT

Stones Salvaged by CWA Workers Restoring Colonists' Settlement on Roanoke Island.

MANTEO, N. C., Feb. 23.—
Stones used as ballast in ships that carried Sir Walter Raleigh's colonists to Roanoke Island will be utilized in restoring their fort on its original site.

Because of the shallow water in the inlet, the ballast was thrown overboard near Nag's Head, and although it has lain submerged 347 years, tradition has kept its location marked.

Workers employed by the Civil Works Administration had little difficulty in finding them and beginning salvage.

The Roanoke Island commission is bent on having the restoration completed well before 1937, when an international ceremony will be held at the fort to celebrate the 350th anniversary of the founding of the colony.

The North Carolina government obtained a CWA appropriation of $20,000 to rebuild the colony. Meanwhile a crew of woodsmen is searching surrounding islands for cedar logs to reconstruct the settlers' palisade and cabins.

Although the colony was the first English settlement in the new world and America's first white child, Virginia Dare, was born there, it was not permanent.

Gov. John White went back to England for supplies and when he returned, the colony had vanished.
Its fate is still a mystery.

Lockwood, 81-year-old Civil War veteran, the last man of the Last Man's Club. It was he who four years ago opened an ancient bottle of wine that had been guarded from year to year by the group of Civil War veterans who formed the Last Man's Club. The Last Beefeers' Bully Beef Club, formed three years ago by 280 World War veterans, cherishes a battle-scarred can of beef which is to remain intact until only two members of the club remain.

By the Associated Press.
MACON, Ga., Feb. 23.—A bottle of rare old wine is to be opened here, but it will be years from now.
The annual meeting of the men who fought in Company A, 151st Machine Gun Battalion during the World War was held here last night and a "Last Man's Club" formed. Actually the club will meet and the last survivor will drink the wine to the memory of his comrades.

ANY CHICKEN SALAD
VARIATIONS SERVED

Mushrooms, Nuts or Fruits Combined With Fowl.

One of the requests of the week for a "different kind of chicken salad." There are lots of variations possible.

Mushrooms and almonds are delicious in salad with chicken, and celery and celery are good also.

Then there's a combination of celery with chicken and jellyed chicken salad is another delicacy.

Chicken-Mushroom Salad.
Three cups cooked chicken, cut in small pieces.

Two cups diced celery.
One small can mushrooms, quartered.

One cup shredded salted almonds.
One and one-half teaspoons salt.
One-half teaspoon paprika.
Mayonnaise.

Lettuce.
Blend chicken, celery, almonds, mushrooms, salt and paprika and mix with mayonnaise. Chill and serve on lettuce with more dressing if desired.

Chicken Jelly Salad.
One level tablespoonful gelatine.
One-fourth cup cold chicken stock.

One and one-half cups cooked chicken, cut in dice.
One cup heavy cream.
Salt and pepper.

Three-fourths cup hot chicken stock, highly seasoned.
Soak gelatine in cold stock about 15 minutes, dissolve in hot stock, which a little onion has been added. When mixture begins to boil, beat, using an egg beater, all frothy; then add cream or mayonnaise, beat until stiff, and chicken dice. Season with salt and pepper. Turn into six individual molds, first dipped in cold water, and chill. Unmold, cut in slices, and serve on lettuce topped with mayonnaise.

Chicken-Nut Salad.
One-half cup walnut kernels.
One and one-half cups cold chicken.

Three-fourths cup diced celery.
Cut chicken into cubes, add diced celery and nuts and mix well. Mar-inate with French dressing, arrange in a bed of lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise.

Chicken and Fruit Salad.
Two cups white meat of chicken.
One orange.
Two dozen grapes.

One dozen salted almonds.
One small banana.
Three-fourths cup mayonnaise.

Place the white meat from a roast fowl and cut into suitable pieces for a salad. Place in a salad bowl and add orange sections which have been freed from seeds and white skin. Add pears cut in halves lengthwise and peeled, and banana thinly sliced.
Mix the mayonnaise and mix well.
Serve on lettuce.

Chicken and Pickle Salad.
Three cups chicken, cooked.
One cup celery, diced.
One dozen stuffed olives.
One-half cup almonds, blanched and chopped.

Four boiled eggs, diced.
One dozen small sweet pickles, sliced.
Mix the ingredients lightly, and season with your favorite mayonnaise.

CORN RABBIT

Two tablespoons butter or other fat.

One tablespoon chopped green pepper.

One small onion, chopped.

Two cups canned corn, crushed in milk.

Three-fourths teaspoon salt.

One-half pound cheese, shaved
in milk.

Few drops tabasco sauce.

Toast or crackers.

Melt fat, add pepper and onions, and cook slowly for a few minutes.
Add corn and salt and simmer for 15 minutes. Remove from fire, beat in cheese until melted, and add tabasco. Pour over toast or crackers and serve at once. Tomato pulp or catsup may be added.

MELLED MEAT LOAF
 Two cups finely dried cooked meat
 One tablespoon granulated gelatin
 One-half cup cold water
 One-half cup boiling water
 One-half cup vinegar
 Two hard-boiled eggs sliced
 One-half teaspoon salt
 One-half teaspoon dried celery
 One-half cup green pepper
 Two tablespoons finely minced onion
 One-half cup mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing
 Soak the gelatin in cold water, then dissolve in the boiling water. Add vinegar and salt. Cool. When mixture begins to set, mix in all the other ingredients excepting the eggs. Rinse a mold in cold water, arrange the egg slices on bottom and sides, then pour in the meat mixture. Set in cold place until firm. Serve on shredded lettuce.

MOCK POACHED EGGS

INDIVIDUAL MEAT LOAVES NOW MADE

Recipe for This and Refrigerator Loaf Given.

MOCK POACHED EGGS
 Four cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatin on top of water. One tablespoon gelatin and one-fourth cup cold water. Add and stir until dissolved. Three-fourths cup sugar. One cup hot water and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add 1 cup lemon juice. Cool mixture, and when it begins to congeal, beat with wire spoon or whisk until frothy; and add 9 egg whites, beaten stiff and dry. Continue beating until stiff enough to hold its shape. Turn into six large coffee saucers, placing in the center of each saucer a peach or apricot half, with rounded side up—to resemble the yolk of an egg. Serve in same saucers, or place on a platter and serve with either custard sauce or whipped cream.

INDIVIDUAL MEAT LOAVES
 Meat loaves, well seasoned and baked just right, have a place all their own in the family menu planning. But have you ever tried individual meat loaves just to give a touch of novelty? And do you make refrigerator meat loaves for Sunday night suppers?

SHRIMP AND CHEESE SALAD
 Two egg yolks
 One-half cup vinegar
 Two tablespoons sugar
 One cup milk
 One-half teaspoon mustard
 One-half teaspoon salt
 One tablespoon gelatin
 One-fourth cup cold water
 One-fourth pound Swiss cheese
 One cup shrimp
 Thoroughly blend egg yolks, vinegar, sugar, milk, mustard and salt and cook in top of double boiler until slightly thickened and mixture coats spoon. Remove from heat, beat gelatin in cold water for two minutes and add to hot mixture. Blend thoroughly and allow to cool. Remove black membrane from shrimp and add. Dice Swiss cheese and add. Chill until firm. Serve on lettuce.

WALNUT PATTIES
 One egg white
 Two tablespoons water
 Two squares unseasoned chocolate, melted
 One teaspoon vanilla
 Three and one-half cups sifted confectioners' sugar (about)
 Halves of walnut meats
 Beat egg white slightly; add water, chocolate and vanilla and mix well. Add sugar gradually, blending after each addition. When stiff enough to shape, knead until smooth. Roll into small balls. Flatten balls and press walnut half into each.

TEXAS SENDS FIRST VALENTIA ORANGES

Nectarines in From South America but Quantity Limited.

A shipment of Valentia oranges came from Texas this week, the first of the season of this variety from this State. Texas seedless grapefruit is beginning to wane and there will not be much more of this particular variety. Continued large consignments of strawberries from Florida keep prices down to early summer levels. For some reason there has been a decided slump in the sale of cranberries, though there are big supplies of choice Cape Cod and New Jersey berries in the local markets at low prices. It's rather a pity that cranberries seem associated so closely with the Thanksgiving or Christmas turkey that other uses are slighted. For instance, in the menu recipes published in this section today, there is a delicious cranberry salad and cranberry muffins, cranberry fritters, cranberry relish made with oranges, and cranberry cocktails and sherbet are all good also. Nectarines from South America this week were among the de luxe fruits—along with honey dew melons from the same source.

CHEESE AND MILK
 To use plenty of cheese is one way to use more milk. It is true that cheese does not contain all the food values of milk, but it does contain most of them. And cheese will keep where milk will not. It can be used in ways that milk cannot. Because cheese contains so much protein, it should be cooked at very low temperature. In fact, most cheese dishes should be cooked over water, or in a very slow oven.

RICE AND APRICOTS
 Four cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatin on top of water, using:
 One tablespoon of gelatin to One-fourth cup cold water
 Add softened gelatin to Three-fourths cup hot apricot juice
 One-half cup sugar
 One-half teaspoonful salt and One tablespoonful lemon juice.
 Combine with above mixture:
 One cup cooked rice and One cup apricots, cut in small pieces.
 Cool and when mixture begins to thicken, fold in:
 One-half cup cream, whipped.
 Arrange apricot halves in bottom of mold that has been rinsed in cold water and fill with rice mixture. Chill and when firm unmold and serve with whipped cream or a sauce of apricot—yup.

SCRUM DOUGHNUTS

RAISIN BREAD

One cup sorghum. One egg. Two-thirds cup sweet milk. One large tablespoon melted butter. Two level teaspoons cream of tartar, sifted with flour. One teaspoonful of soda dissolved in milk. One-fourth teaspoon salt. One-half teaspoon each of ginger and grated nutmeg. Use flour enough to mix for "dropping" doughnuts on hot grease. Sugar the doughnuts after frying by placing the hot doughnuts in a paper bag containing sugar and shake the bag well.

RAISIN BREAD
 Two and one-half cups sifted flour.
 Two tablespoons sugar.
 Three teaspoons baking powder.
 One teaspoon salt.
 One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
 Two eggs.
 One cup milk.
 One and one-half cups chopped raisins.
 Four tablespoons melted fat.
 Sift together dry ingredients. Beat eggs, add milk, and add first mixture. Stir in raisins and fat. Let dough stand for minutes in a well-greased pan. Bake in a moderate oven about one hour.

BEANS AND FRANKFURTERS

Place a layer of beans in casserole and cover with a layer of chopped cold frankfurters. Repeat until you have three layers of beans and two layers of meat. Over top layer of beans pour a generous amount of ketchup, and lay strips of bacon over top of ketchup. Place in hot oven for about 30 minutes or until beans and meat are heated through and the bacon is a golden brown.

French Soup Pot.

French peasants keep a soup pot on the back of the stove, and in it go bones from a roast, bits of left-over vegetables, celery leaves and water in which vegetables have been cooked.

CUP CAKES RIVALS OF COOKIES TODAY

Old - Time Favorites Hard Pressed in Popularity Race.

In grandmother's day cookies were the special treat for the youngsters, and while they are still gratefully received, cup cakes are even more popular in many families.

They are sometimes iced which makes them suitable for dessert for both adults and the children. And they are just as good as cookies for in-between snacks. Here are some recipes:

Raisin Cup Cakes.

One-quarter cup butter or other fat.
One-half cup sugar.
One egg.
One-half cup milk.
One and one-half cups sifted flour.

One-half cup raisins.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
Cream fat and sugar and add well-beaten egg. Roll the raisins in two tablespoons of the flour. Sift other dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk to first mixture. Stir in raisins and vanilla. Bake in greased muffin tins for 15 to 20 minutes in moderate oven. Very good warm.

Peanut Butter Cup Cakes.

Two tablespoons butter or other fat.
Two tablespoons peanut butter.
One-half cup sugar.
One egg.
One and one-half cups sifted flour.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Two and one-half teaspoons baking powder.

One-half cup milk.
Cream the butter or other fat and peanut butter, add sugar gradually and egg well beaten. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder, and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Bake in greased muffin pans about 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

Eggless Cup Cakes.

One-half cup butter or other fat.
One and one-half cups brown sugar.
Two and one-half cups sifted flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One cup clabbered milk.
One-half teaspoon soda.
Two tablespoons chopped nuts.
Cream fat, then mix in thoroughly brown sugar, flour and salt. Set aside about one-fourth cup of this and mix it with the nuts. Stir the soda and milk in the rest of the fat and sugar mixture, and pour into greased muffin pans. Cover the top of the cakes with the nut mixture. Bake in a moderate oven for about 25 to 30 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Ginger Cup Cakes.

One-third cup shortening.
One-half cup brown sugar.
One egg, well beaten.
One-half cup molasses.
One cup bran.
One and one-half cups flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One and one-half teaspoons ginger.

One teaspoon cinnamon.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One-half cup buttermilk or sour milk.
Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, molasses and all-bran. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk. Pour into greased small muffin tins. Bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes. Cool and cover with the following frosting:

Orange Butter Frosting.

One egg yolk, well beaten.
Three tablespoons orange juice.
Two teaspoons lemon juice.
Three cups powdered sugar.
One tablespoon butter, melted.
Mix together beaten egg yolk and the fruit juices, add sugar gradually. Add melted butter.

TURKEY CREAMED WITH OLIVES

Four tablespoonfuls butter.
Four tablespoonfuls flour.
Two cupfuls milk or cream.
Three-fourths teaspoonful salt.
Dash of pepper.
Two cupfuls cold cooked turkey.
One teaspoonful chopped parsley.
One-fourth cupful stuffed olives, sliced.
One beaten egg yolk.
Melt butter in a saucepan and blend well with flour. Add milk or cream, salt and pepper, and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add turkey, parsley and olives. Add egg yolk, well beaten. Serve on buttered toast or crackers.

MAYONNAISE CHICKEN STUFFING

Eight cups soft bread crumbs
One-half cup onion, finely chopped
One-third cup celery, diced
One teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon black pepper
One cup poultry stock
One cup mayonnaise.
Combine bread crumbs, onion, celery, salt and pepper. Fold stock into mayonnaise and add to other ingredients. Toss all lightly together with fork until thoroughly mixed. Makes enough stuffing for one large chicken.
Use bread that is a day old.

Marmalade and Cheese Sandwiches.
Cut thin slices of Boston brown bread. Spread with orange marmalade and place a rosette of cream cheese forced through a pastry tube in center.

OATMEAL BREAKFAST GOOD IN REDUCING

First Meal Worked Off by Morning Activities.

"If, in the interest of getting thin, you're giving up breakfast, you're making a big mistake," say physiologists, who know the workings of the human stomach. "Because of all meals, breakfast is the one that is 'worked off,' burned up by activity—or, in other words, so completely used up that there is no chance for any of it to be stored as fat. In fact, if you will consider your day, you will find that the most active part of it occurs following breakfast. This, then, should be the meal at which you can eat the most with the least fear of having it store up excess adiposities.

"Moreover, those who eat good breakfasts are less apt to be driven by hunger to over-indulge at luncheon or dinner. Most important of all, the particular things one eats at breakfast provide such a large share of wholesome minerals and vitamins that scientists say this meal is doubly important to health. For example, your dish of oatmeal, together with whole milk and fruit, gives you an almost perfectly balanced meal. This is because milk is rich in calcium, and together with the roughage and iron and vitamins that oatmeal contains, it gives your body the very things it most needs, especially if you are limiting your food at other meals."

"The trouble with all of us in the morning," says Dr. Francis G. Benedict, of Carnegie Institute, Washington, "is that our energy on awakening is so feeble that it would barely keep a 68-watt bulb going."

Of course when we get out of bed and start moving around, our energy production rises. And so do our food requirements. Just sitting up increases the energy we spend 5 per cent. Standing up, 10 per cent. A brisk walk, 200 per cent. While a man working up to the limit of physical exertion will increase his energy expenditure 1000 per cent or more.

So that's the reason the world looks so blue to the person who doesn't eat a good breakfast. When he awakens, after a 12 hours' fast, he has exhausted the food energy of his last meal the day before. And yet before him stretch the four hardest hours of the day—the hours in which, according to statistics, the world does 70 per cent of its day's work. What happens? He has no food energy to go on. So he must fall back on nervous energy. And when you go on nerves instead of food, the results are bad for you and hard on your associates.

Cheese Straws.

Roll pie crust one-fourth inch thick, sprinkle with grated American cheese, salt and paprika. Fold over several times, roll again and sprinkle with grated cheese, salt and paprika. Repeat the process three or four times, then roll again and cut into strips about one-third inch wide. Bake in a moderately hot oven, and serve with salad or

COLD WEATHER CALLS FOR RICHER SOUPS

Potatoes and Onions in One Recipe, Corn in Another.

Home from a hard day in the office or shop, there is nothing the tired man likes better than to begin dinner on a cold night with a substantial soup.

It warms and cheers him and provides such substantial nourishment that the rest of the meal need not be elaborate.

Here are three especially good "please your husband" soup recipes:

Potato-Onion Soup.
One quart diced potatoes.
Two tablespoons butter.
Three large onions, sliced thin.
Three tablespoons flour.
One tall can evaporated milk with water to make one quart liquid.
One tablespoon salt.
Pepper.
Cayenne.

Boil potatoes in one quart water. Drain and mash. Save potato water. Melt butter in soup kettle. Add onions; cover and cook very slowly until onions begin to brown. Sift flour over onions, stir to blend well, then add water in which potatoes were boiled. Cook until slightly thickened, stirring frequently. Combine mashed potatoes and diluted milk. Add to soup with seasonings and heat thoroughly.

A time-saving feature of the recipe is the direction for adding the evaporated milk after the rest of the combination is piping hot. The milk goes in, and presto! the soup can be served.

Cream of Green Bean Soup.
Three tablespoons butter.
One pint finely cut string beans.
One tablespoon minced onion.
One teaspoon salt.
Dash of pepper.
Dash of cayenne.
Two tablespoons flour.
One pint boiling water.
One tall can evaporated milk.
Melt butter. Add beans, onion, and seasoning. Cover and simmer until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Do not let vegetables brown. Sift flour over vegetables. Stir to blend well, then add boiling water, and boil until mixture begins to thicken. Add milk and heat thoroughly. Serve with grated cheese. To make a delicious and more unusual soup, use water in which one-half bunch of watercress has been boiled, in place of water called for in recipe. Canned beans may be used.

Corn Soup.
One and one-half cups canned corn.
One cup meat broth (or one cup water and two bouillon cubes).
Two and one-half cups rich milk, scalded.
One teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon sugar.
One-half teaspoon scraped onion.
One and one-half tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca.
Dash of Cayenne.
One and one-half tablespoons butter.

Cook corn with broth 10 minutes; force through sieve. Add milk, tapioca, salt, sugar and Cayenne, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add onions and butter.

HAM LOAF

Two pounds raw cured ham.
Two pounds fresh pork.
One quart rice flakes.
Two eggs.
One cup milk.
One-half teaspoon pepper.
One tablespoon sauce.
Eight slices canned pineapple.
Grind ham and pork together. Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Pat into loaves and cook in roasting pan with a little water for about an hour. After first half-hour place slices of pineapple over the top of loaf and allow to brown delicately.

HARD SAUCE

One tablespoon butter.
Two cups confectioners' sugar.
Two tablespoons evaporated milk.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Cream butter and gradually add the sugar and milk, then the vanilla. Keep chilled until ready to serve. Yield: Sufficient for six desserts.

Pear Salad.

Arrange two halves of canned pear on crisp lettuce. Garnish the center of each half with a rosette of cream cheese forced through a pastry tube. Serve with french dressing. Sliced pineapple or halves of apricots may also be used for this salad.

PROTECTIVE DIETS DESERVE ATTENTION

Resistance to Common Colds Built Up by Right Foods.

If common colds could be eliminated, what a marvelous world this would be. Nearly everybody comes in contact with this type of infection, but while one person is susceptible, another is immune. What is the reason for the apparent "bad luck" of the man, woman or child who contracts the sniffles or a cough? The answer is that his resistance is too low to throw off the unfriendly organisms.

How can such resistance be built up? First, be sure that there is no focus of infection such as diseased tonsils, bad teeth, or sinus trouble. Second, check on your food habits and be sure that you are eating an adequate diet. Third, see that you are getting enough rest. The doctor will advise you on the first two, but for the third, you personally are responsible. A tired body is unable to withstand the attack of germs and a bad cold makes it even more tired, so that the unpleasant siege may be long and difficult to conquer.

What is an adequate, protective diet? It is one which includes calories sufficient for the body's activities; building material for growth and repair; and minerals and vitamins for protection.

Here is a menu for one day, which is adequate:

Breakfast.
Orange Juice
Wheat Flakes or Cooked Cereal
Top Milk Bacon
Cocoa or Coffee

Luncheon.
Tomato Omelet
Celery

Dinner.
Apple Sauce
Meat Balls
Baked Potatoes Creamed Onions
Glazed Carrots
Lettuce Salad
Mocha Mousse

STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

8-L. large sweet potatoes.
One-half cup milk.
Two tablespoons butter.
Three egg whites.
One-fourth cup, walnut meats.
Salt, pepper, paprika to taste.
Bake potatoes and when done split in half, lengthwise, scoop out. Beat, add milk, butter, seasoning and beat again. Then add beaten whites and nuts. Refill shells. Brown in hot oven.

HEINZ

HEINZ IS THE LARGEST SELLING KETCHUP IN THE WORLD!

On Seeing Red

"There are times," observed our Ketchup chef, surveying the Heinz tomatoes, rotund and ripe, "there are times when it is good for a man to see red."

"Therefore, of these tomatoes, Heinz-born and Heinz-bred, pedigreed and pampered, cultivated and carefully culled—of these shall I make ketchup. It shall be simmered down and yet down to the precious essentials. Spices borne by our trusty couriers from the Orient, these and pure sugar shall be added by way of sweetness and delight."

"This shall be Heinz Ketchup to glorify the food of man. Chops shall be cherished, hash shall be heavenly, omelets a thing divine."

"And men shall see red, bright, heartening, come-hither Heinz Ketchup red. They shall grin hungrily. And they shall rush tableward."

SUCCESS NOTE:

Seeds and plants specially developed by Heinz. Tomatoes ripened under Heinz supervision. Ketchup cooked same day tomatoes are picked. Sealed hot in bottles. Tasted, tested. Then sold by the million to man-wise women. The largest selling ketchup in the world!

FOOD FOR QUICK FEASTS!

In a few minutes heating time you have delicately tender spaghetti complete with a lively, delightful Italian-style sauce. Completely ready to eat!

From fine Durum wheat we ourselves make the Spaghetti. We cook it just enough—slightly chewy and never too soft. We stir into it a sauce we concoct of cheese, tomatoes, meat stock, milk, butter and spices—a sauce that has a zesty, keen flavor that is thrilling at the first taste.

We urge a reserve supply of Heinz Spaghetti for rush meals. A goodly supply—for you will find it being asked for, rush or no rush!

We OVEN-BAKE our beans

Because that is the way to make beans tender and mealy and (mmm!) so delicious! That is the way to get the good sauce right into them so that they're flavorful all through. That is the way to make them more digestible so that they render the utmost food value.

We oven-bake them because oven-baking made beans America's first pet dish, and has kept them the national favorite all down the years. So don't buy beans, buy oven-baked beans. Remember—

WINTER GREENS IMPORTANT DETAIL

Turnip-Tops, Kale, Escarole and Cabbage Recommended.

If you follow the rules of good nutrition, you have greens in midwinter as well as in the spring and summer. You should eat them almost every day, in fact—a green or else yellow vegetable every day, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. But the yellow vegetables are so numerous, so the question comes chiefly on greens. What all we use for greens now, in the middle of February?

In the far South, of course, that is not much of a problem, for they grow their own greens or buy them all the year round. A little farther north they still have some-grown greens most of the year because such plants as collards and kale and turnip salad do not mind a little frost, in fact, are the better for it. Collards are the southern substitute for the winter cabbage of the North. They are a same-garden vegetable, and they are, nowadays, a commercial crop which is shipped to Northern markets. Usually they can be bought in the St. Louis markets. Collards are a plant of the cabbage family which fails to head, and grows a stalk. The leaves are large and grow in tufts, or big rosettes. Georgia collards often grow to three feet in height. They grow better in the South than does late cabbage, because they withstand cold better.

Generally speaking, collards are cooked in the same ways that are used for cabbage and the same precautions against overcooking are needed. Five or 10 minutes are usually enough, and certainly not more than 20 minutes. Collards are not "panned," or "smothered," and Usually they can be bought in the St. Louis markets. Collards are a plant of the cabbage family which fails to head, and grows a stalk. The leaves are large and grow in tufts, or big rosettes. Georgia collards often grow to three feet in height. They grow better in the South than does late cabbage, because they withstand better.

Generally speaking, collards are cooked in the same ways that you cook cabbage—and the same precautions against overcooking are needed. Five or 10 minutes are usually enough, and certainly not more than 20 minutes. Collards are not panned, or "smothered," and seasoned simply with salt pork or bacon fat—or butter, if possible. Or they are good panned, with milk added. Or served with white sauce. Or cooked with meat—in which case cook the meat almost "done" before you add the collards. This will minimize the "strong" flavor that comes from the long cooking necessary for the meat.

Italian Favorite.
You will find another green leafy vegetable on the markets—escarole, or broad-leaved endive. This is very popular with people of Italian stock, in fact escarole is shipped only to communities where there is a fairly large Italian population. It is one of the best of all greens for vitamin A, and like all the other green leaves is a very good source of iron, too. It is used chiefly as a raw salad. But it is good in a mixture of cooked greens—with chard, spinach, and kale, for example. It can also be served as you prepare wilted lettuce, with a tart sauce. Or you can wilt it with hot sauce, such as you make for slaw. Or again, you can cook escarole, and serve it with white sauce.

Kale, reliable old friend that it is, may be cooked as other greens are cooked. Panning is a good way—and milk may be added here, too. Spinach, of course, is on the market almost everywhere in this country, and is usually cheap. Or if fresh spinach is not cheap, canned spinach may be, and it has almost the same food values as fresh spinach. Last but not least, cabbage, which we have all the year, is probably the cheapest greens of all. From the south they are shipping turnip tops to St. Louis. There are no better food values in any kind of greens than in these same green tops of the turnip.

Collard With Pork.
Sort, trim and wash the collards, and remove the tougher stems and midribs. If the leaves are large, chop coarsely. Cook from 5 to 15 minutes in a small quantity of unsalted water until tender. Add crisp bits of browned salt pork, and season with the pork drippings.

Wilted Escarole.
Two quarts escarole.
Four tablespoons bacon fat.
One-fourth cup milk vinegar.
One teaspoon salt.
Wash the greens thoroughly, and

FRENCH CABBAGE ROSE FOR LENTEN LUNCHEON

Red Cabbage and Apple Recipes Also From France.

If you think cabbage commonplace and rather unappetizing, try a French cabbage rose or red cabbage cooked with apples and ginger snaps in another French recipe. Either is good as a main dish for luncheon during Lent—or at any season.

Cabbage Rose.
One medium-sized cabbage.
Three tablespoons melted butter.
Three-fourths teaspoon salt.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
Pinch of nutmeg.
Three eggs, beaten well.
Thirty-two crackers crushed finely.
One-half cup hot milk.
Two teaspoons chopped parsley.
One small onion, chopped finely and sautéed in

One tablespoon butter.
Remove outside leaves of cabbage carefully. Cut inside leaves in shreds, making about three cups shredded cabbage. Cook shredded cabbage until tender, add butter and seasoning. Mix crushed crackers with milk and combine with cooked cabbage. Add beaten eggs and remainder of ingredients.

Put a moistened square of cheesecloth in a deep bowl and place outer cabbage leaves in this, forming them into the shape of a rose. Place the cabbage leaves mixture in center of each leaf and roll up.

Heat the bacon fat, vinegar, and salt in a frying pan, add the greens, cover, and cook at moderate heat until the greens are wilted. Serve at once.

Turnip Greens and Rice.
Two pounds turnip greens.
Two cups cold cooked rice.
Bacon drippings.
Wash the greens through several waters and drain. Roll uncovered in a small quantity of lightly salted water, turning frequently. As soon as the greens are tender, chop them, add the rice, and season with bacon drippings. Mix well and serve hot.

ter, pull cloth together tightly and tie. Place in pot of salted boiling water deep enough to cover cabbage for 30 minutes. When finished, remove cloth and slice. Serve hot with brown butter crumb sauce made by melting one-half cup butter in saucepan and adding 12 crackers crushed finely. Stir on slow flame until sauce is golden brown color.

Red Cabbage and Apples.
One pound red cabbage.
One pound apples, peeled and cored.
Two tablespoons butter.
Pinch of salt.
Two-thirds cup hot water.
Two tablespoons vinegar.
Two tablespoons sugar.
Ten ginger snaps.

Cut cabbage into small pieces, add apples whole, butter and enough water to cover bottom of pan. Simmer until tender (about 30 minutes). Mix hot water, vinegar, sugar and crushed ginger snaps together and add to cooked cabbage. Stir until well mixed and serve hot.

Garlic With Lamb.
A clove of garlic tucked into the joint of a leg of lamb gives it a different flavor.

Ham Left-Overs.
Grind the end of a cooked ham no longer suitable for slicing, mix with chopped pickle or green olives, and enough salad dressing to moisten. Use for sandwich filling.

HAVANA FUDGE

One-half cup cocoa.
One cup brown sugar.
One cup granulated sugar.
Pinch of salt.
One-half cup water.
Eight marshmallows, cut into eighths.
One-half cup milk.
Two tablespoons butter.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One cup coarsely broken nut meats.

Blend cocoa, sugars and salt and add water and milk. Place over low flame, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Cook, without stirring, until soft ball may be formed by dropping small amount in cold water. Remove from fire and add butter and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm and beat until mixture thickens. Add marshmallows and nuts and pour into greased pan. When cold cut in squares.

Ham Left-Overs.
Grind the end of a cooked ham no longer suitable for slicing, mix with chopped pickle or green olives, and enough salad dressing to moisten. Use for sandwich filling.

Suppose a child should tell Mother she was

OLD-FASHIONED

NOT old-fashioned in most things, you can be sure. Mother's home is modern. Her clothes are in style. The family car is the latest model. And she likes to feel that her children have up-to-date care.

But she still has the idea that winter meals must always be hot, heavy and monotonous. It's just a habit, of course. A hand-me-down from the age of warming-pans and red-flannel underwear. But young appetites know! They demand variety—something fresh and crisp. And they're right. Today, with our comfortably heated houses and closed cars, we don't need old-fashioned menus all the time.

Serve a modern winter breakfast. Crisp, delicious Kellogg's Corn Flakes, with milk or cream and a bit of fruit. See how eagerly your family enjoys it. A nourishing breakfast, too. Rich in energy. Easily, quickly digested. Remember, these crisp, appetizing flakes generate as much body-heat as many hot dishes

New 1934 loans.....2 7

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—After mulling about in a dull and irregular fashion during the early hours, stocks turned downward in the latter part of today's session and numerous issues recorded losses of 1 to 4 or more points. There were some mild recoveries in the final few minutes but the close was heavy. Transfers approximated 2,250,000 shares.

Commodities generally were steady to firm, although wheat lost its morning gains. The pound eased in terms of the dollar, but the gold currencies were slightly higher. Some bonds sagged. Shares of United Aircraft and Liggett & Myers were up around a point each. Industrial Rayon, U. S. Smelters and United Pacific dropped around a share, while Celanese, Libby-Owens, Allied Chemical and U. S. Industrial lost 3 or more. Armour preferred and Wilson Co. yielded about 4 each and United down 1 to more than 2, included Santa Fe, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, American Can, Johns-Manville, Chrysler, Westinghouse, General Motors, Ward, Goodyear and Standard Oil of California.

Wheat ended with declines of 1/4 to 1/2 of a cent a bushel. Corn was unchanged to 1/4 lower. Rye was up 1/4 to 1/2 cent. At Winnipeg wheat ended 1/4 to 1/2 cent. Cotton finished 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower to 10 cents a bale higher. At mid-afternoon a 46-cent pound was advanced 1/4 of a cent and the British and Canadian dollars were 1/4 of a cent. Cotton finished at 99.37 1/2 cents. French francs showed a gain of .01 of a were up 12 of a cent, dutch guilders and Belgian francs and Swiss francs were .03 and .04 of a cent higher, respectively.

News of the Day.
A few of the rumors reflected an upturn in cigarette production for January, but most of the stocks showed no great enthusiasm. Various packing company shares were depressed following "price-fixing" in the industry. Folders of the alcohol were charged with alleged excessive retail liquor costs.

French Gold Loss.
While most banking circles do not anticipate any revaluation of the franc in the near future, considerable attention was paid to the statement of the Bank of France which showed withdrawals of gold or about one-fifth the net loss of the previous week. This reduced the franc's reserve to 74,434,000 francs, or the smallest since Feb. 25, 1932. In five months the bank has suffered net withdrawals of about 2,820,000 francs.

Closing prices and net change of the 10 most active stocks: Packard 6 1/4, down 1/4; United Aircraft 25 1/4, up 1/4; Chrysler 7 1/4, down 1/4; Montgomery Ward 32 1/4, down 1/4; Studebaker 7 1/4, down 1/4; General Motors 39 1/4, down 1/4; Radio Corporation 41 1/4, down 1/4; New York Central 41 1/4, down 1/4; General Electric 21 1/4, down 1/4; and Republic Steel 23 1/4, down 1/4.

passport to a grand new world

IT'S a world packed with busy, happy hours—a world built upon sunny health. You can start your tour without trunks or tickets. Just ask your grocer for a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

This delicious cereal corrects common constipation—the most frequent cause of sluggish days, headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It is an ailment that takes the fun out of living.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. It is also rich in iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. How much better than risking patent medicines—so often habit-forming!

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or cook into muffins, omelets, breads, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Keep on the sunny side of life.

IMPORTANT!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains nothing but all bran with a small percentage of flavor. It is recommended as much more efficient in relieving common constipation than part-bran products which cannot contain as much "bulk."

MERCHANT'S DAUGHTER WILL BECOME QUEEN

Wife of Manchukuo's Emperor-Designate, However, Keeps in Background.

By the Associated Press.
HSINKING (Changchun), Manchuria, Feb. 23.—When Henry Pu-Yi drops his civil title of "Mr. Chief Executive" March 1 and becomes Emperor of the new Manchukuan empire, his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Pu-Yi, a commoner, will become Queen. She is the daughter of a Manchurian business man, Jung Yuang. Ten years after his dethronement as Emperor of China, Pu-Yi selected the present Mrs. Pu-Yi as his bride from a group of photographs of marriageable young ladies submitted to him by his advisers. She was then described as a Manchurian beauty.

Later, in accordance with Chinese imperial custom, the youthful Manchurian nobleman acquired two additional unofficial wives. In the course of time, he got rid of these extra wives, largely at the instance of "No. 1 wife."

In her earlier days in Peiping, Mrs. Pu-Yi studied English and history under two American women, Miss Miriam Ingram and Miss Isabel Ingram, daughters of a Congregational missionary of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Pu-Yi has never been seen in public since her husband became chief executive. She leads a secluded, lonely life. The authorities tell correspondents that she is in delicate health, never receives visitors, and never appears in public. In any case, she will not participate in the ceremony March 1. The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Pu-Yi have no children has given Manchukuo and Japanese authorities considerable anxiety. When asked how the question of succession would be settled, they told questioners: "Constitutional means will be found for providing an heir, in case the Emperor's present wife does not present him with one."

SCHALL SAYS NRA MEANS 'NATIONAL RACKETEERS' ASSN'

Senator Declares Government Backs Up Combination in Restraint of Trade.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Calling the NRA the "national racketeers' association," Senator Schall, the blind Republican legislator from Minnesota, berated every administration policy in a speech in the Senate yesterday as a crowd of holiday spectators roared over a series of wisecracks, among which was: "England got one-third of the world out of the war. France filled her pockets and all we got was prohibition and this Democratic administration."

He said he read in the papers where the administration was "going back to the old system" of letting private operators carry the air mail. That seemed to be warranted, he said, since "seven army flyers" had been killed en route to fly the mails.

He called NRA the "national ruin act" and said under it the Government was placed back of combinations in restraint of trade.

"Let's bring 'em in and send them to 10 days in jail," he said.

STABBED TO DEATH AT PARTY

Charles Smith Killed and C. A. Williams Held as Slayer.

Charles Smith, a Negro, 33 years old, was stabbed to death last night at a party at 819 South Ninth street.

Police are holding C. A. Williams, 24, Negro, of the Ninth street address. Witnesses told officers that Williams and another Negro quarreled and some one handed Williams a knife. Smith asked Williams what he intended to do with the weapon. Williams' reply was to plunge the knife into Smith's chest, the witnesses said. Smith lived at 1012 (rear) Papin street.

URGES BANKERS TO PROTEST AGAINST FEDERAL SPENDING

Senator David A. Reed Says Public Debt Is Rising at Rate of $25,000,000 a Day.

EASTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—Asserting that "we are increasing the public debt at the rate of $25,000,000 a day," Senator David A. Reed called on Pennsylvania bankers last night to protest against heavy spending by the Federal Government. He spoke before Group 3 of the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association.

The unlimited issuance of fiat money will follow the Government's arrival at the end of its borrowing power, Reed said. "That is the route that all governments must take that find their borrowing powers depleted," he added. Reed also expressed the belief that the courts will not uphold the Government's seizure of gold.

TITLES COCHRAN MEETS LAYTON IN TITLE THREE-CUSHION MATCH TONIGHT

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The world's three-cushion billiard championship and $1500 in cash will be at stake tonight when Welker Cochran of San Francisco and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., take their places at the familiar green-cloth table.

It will be the last regularly-scheduled game of the tournament which began Feb. 5 and it will be decisive. Cochran, who won the crown for the first time last year, and Layton, 10 times holder of it in the course of a long career, reach the climax match with identical records of eight victories and two defeats. The winner tonight takes the championship; the loser automatically falls into a second place tie with Allen Hall of Chicago, necessitating a playing for second and third positions.

Willie Hoppe, New York veteran, defeated J. N. Bozeman, Young Valjeo, Cal., sensation, 50-42, in the next to the last game of the tournament last night, and wound up in a tie for fourth place with Bozeman. Each won seven games and lost four. They will play off the tie tomorrow.

Hoppe led Bozeman all the way, gaining an 8-1 lead at the end of the first 10 innings and leading by 10 points, 31-21, after 30 frames. Bozeman gradually cut into the veteran's advantage until he trailed by only two points in the forty-first inning.

Here Hoppe rallied again, added 10 points in the next three innings and finally closed out the match in the sixty-second inning. His high run was four; Bozeman's seven.

The standings:

PLAYER	W.	L.	Pts.	HR.	NO.
Cochran	8	2	486	13	37
Layton	8	2	486	13	37
Hoppe	7	3	510	14	33

McBRIDE HIGH GAINS 32-19 VICTORY OVER CENTRAL CATHOLIC FIVE

In a brilliant climax to "Championship Night" at McBride High, the Colonnade basketball team won a decisive 32-19 victory over Central Catholic High, champions of East St. Louis. The Pre-League champions lead throughout the game, being surpassed in points only in the third quarter when the East Siders held an 8-3 advantage.

Al Gorman and Eddie McGinnis, the winners tied for high scoring honors, each with 9 points. Steve Andrejick, also of McBride, who made three sets-ups in quick succession at the outset of the third quarter, was second with 7.

Basketball letters were presented to the team earlier in the evening. Those honored were Steve Andrejick, Al Gorman, Gil Frank, Al Humphries, Richard Sahrmann, Tom Canavan, Eddie Gromacki, Bernard Bohrer, Bob O'Connor, and Dan O'Driscoll.

The box score:

FOUR NEW EVENTS IN THIS YEAR'S WESTERN A. A. U. SWIMMING MEET

Four new events have been added to the program of the Western A. A. U. swimming championships, which will be held at Wilson Pool, Washington University, on March 20 and 21. Three of the newly-added races, all at 100 yards, are for men novice swimmers, and the fourth is a 200-yard high school relay.

Only swimmers registered in the Western A. A. U. or certified by their educational institution will be allowed to compete. Registration cards may be obtained from Y. M. C. A. Neavies at the Downtown Y. M. C. A.

The championships are being sponsored by the Meramec River Patrol.

YALE SWIMMER SETS NEW AMERICAN RECORD

By the Associated Press. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 23.—A new American record for the 100-meter breast stroke was set yesterday by Walter Savell, 'a' swimmer, in a special event at the Yale varsity swampland the Boys' Club of New York, 50 to 21, in a dual meet.

Savell swam the 100 meters in one minute, 13.2 seconds, to break the former American record of one minute, 14 seconds, held by Walter Spence of New York.

The listed world's record for the event is one minute, 13.2 seconds, set by J. Cartonnard of France, a second slower than Savell's mark, but Bob Kipphut, Yale swimming coach, said he believed Cartonnard had bettered this mark recently.

PADDON SCORES TWO GOALS FOR ST. LOUIS SIX; ROULSTON STARS

By the Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23.—The Tulsa Oilers of the American Hockey Association blew a 2 to 1 lead in the third period here last night and let the St. Louis Flyers come from behind to take a final decision, 3 to 2. The triumph was the sixth in eight games for St. Louis. One of the contests which the Flyers failed to win in the streak was a tie, so the last eight games have resulted in six victories, a tie and one defeat.

Paddon's three points which he scored last night put him safely off in front in individual scoring. He has 26 points to his credit to 23 for his teammate, Pete Palangio.

After a second period that furnished about all the thrills hockey affords in the way of dashes of offense and brilliant defense by both teams, the third came along and found the Oilers playing a poor game in all departments.

With Flyers off the ice for minor infractions twice, the Oilers were unable to score, once let Paddon steal the puck and skate down unmolested, with no one in the Tulsa defending zone, to feint goalie Karakas out of position and fire in the deciding shot.

McPherson Scores First. "Shrimp" McPherson scored a little more than half way in the first period, a rather dull session with little in the way of spectacular play.

Rollie Roulston used the ice for tripping when the score came and the Flyers had four men in the attacking zone.

Eddie had a beautiful pass from Halderston about midway of the second to score and knot the score at one-all. Just a minute later, Bob Hughes, the idol of the Tulsa rink, took the puck on a fast rush down the side ice and passed to Wakeford, who beat goalie Murray.

Tulsa resorted to purely defensive tactics with only one goal lead as the third period opened and the Flyers began shooting four and five men down on every play.

Paddon Ties the Score. At nine and a half minutes, Paddon, McPherson, and Al Hughes scored down with blood in their eyes, beat away the Tulsa defense and Paddon fired away with a whizzer that Karakas couldn't stop.

A brilliant defensive play came when Roulston, starting five yards away from him, caught up with Paddon and robbed him of an unobstructed shot at the net. Paddon again had caught all the Tulsa players in the St. Louis defending zone. His solo score followed only a moment later.

Golfers Play in Semifinal Round Of Miami Event

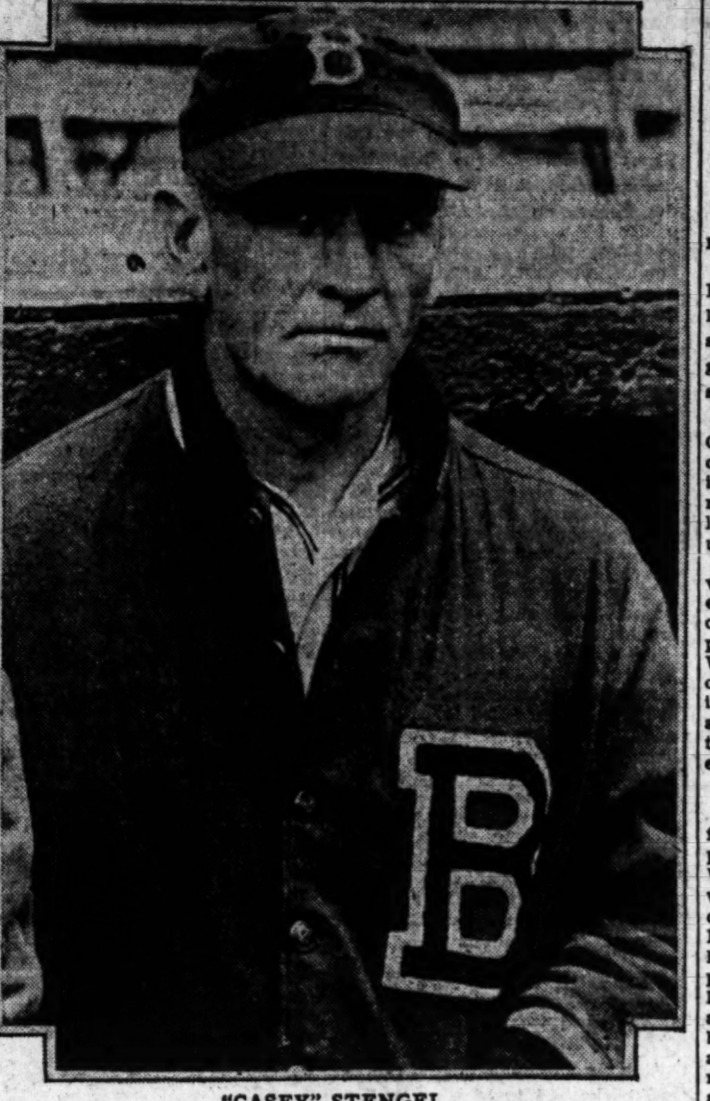

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23.—Dick Cluci, youthful New York golfer, succumbed to the medalist "jinx" in the quarterfinal round of the ninth annual Dixie amateur golf championship on the Miami Country Club course yesterday.

The 22-year-old star was defeated by Bob Lester, of Short Hills, N. J., holder of the Sweetest gold cup, at the twentieth hole. Cluci blew up at the twentieth, missing three straight shots and was still short on the green. Lester made the hole in one over par to win the match.

The pair were even at the turn, out in 38. Cluci went one up on the tenth, when he folded a 30-foot chip for a birdie three, but Lester squared the match on the next with a par three. Lester went down one at the twelfth, and after halving the next four holes in two over pars figures, evened matters again with a birdie three on the seventeenth. They halved the eighteenth in par five.

On the first hole, Lester hooked to the trees, and played a beautiful mashie to the edge of the green to leave the hole with a birdie four. Russell Martin, former Chicago city champion, Curtis Bryan, of Miami, and Charles Whitehead of South River, N. J., joined Lester for the semifinal round. Martin defeated George Bradley of Philadelphia, 3 and 2. Whitehead won over Arnold McKinley of Cleveland, O., 5 and 4. Bryan again narrowly escaped defeat, going to the last green before he could gain a one up victory over Lee Fowler of New York. Martin plays Bryan and Whitehead opposes Lester today.

WRAY'S COLUMN

The Derby Comes Back. ALTHOUGH the added money value of the 1934 Kentucky Derby has been cut $20,000 from last year, reports from Louisville indicate that the entry probably will be larger than that of last year.

A reason for that, of course, is the fact that there are few standouts among the eligibles, based on last year's form. Every owner, when he sent in his entry fee, hoped that his nomination might be the colt or filly that would show the best development during the winter months and turn out another Gallant Fox in the spring.

It is too early to tell about prospective Gallant Foxes. Still, there is one three-year-old that really has broken the mark in the Derby, a colt that was raced little as a two-year-old and therefore is now fresh as a daisy, even though he is being used in winter racing.

Recently Time Supply won the Bahama Handicap at Hialeah in close to record time. He could have broken the mark if extended, observers believe. He has been made favorite for the Florida Derby and on the showing of his prospective rivals, the race seems as good as won now. In fact, Time Supply is quoted as having won 2 to 1 in the future books on the Florida event.

But the Kentucky Derby is nearly three months distant. And the star of February is the also ran of May, records of the past indicate.

A Different Case. MOST winter-raced three-year-olds are burned out when they come up for the Kentucky Derby. Even if given a rest, they seldom respond when called upon for the big event. Black Gold was one horse that reversed the odds that winners of winter derbies seldom are close to the leaders when the big derby is run.

With Time Supply, the case is different. This juvenile was raced but little in his two-year-old form and was therefore not injured by heavy demands on his immature strength.

He was sent to the post only five times as a two-year-old and therefore will enjoy an advantage over the more severely tried youngsters.

Of his five starts Time Supply won three and finished second another three—once out of the money. That is not a bad record. The strain of the famous Ben Brush and his son, Sweep, are in the veins of Time Supply, through his sire Time Maker and his daddy The Porter. His dam, Surplus, was equally well-bred and the strains of Fair Play and Hastings mingle in her ancestry.

The colt is bred for great performance, has not been overworked and even though used in winter racing, may still stand up in training and go to the post in the Kentucky Derby fit for a real race. If he wins the Florida Derby impressively, he will be a well-played choice for the Churchill Downs race on May 2.

CASEY STENGEL NAMED MANAGER AT BROOKLYN FOR TWO YEARS

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Charles D. (Casey) Stengel, former Brooklyn Dodgers outfielder and a coach since 1932, today was named manager of the team for 1934 and 1935, succeeding Max Carey.

Stengel was called east from his Glendale, Cal., home Sunday to discuss terms with the directors when it was definitely decided to let Carey go. He slipped quietly into town last night but remained secluded until this morning.

He was present, smiling broadly, when General Manager J. A. Robert Quinn, made the announcement of his appointment. The only surprise was the two-year contract, as Wilbert Robinson worked under only a one-year agreement preceding his dismissal in 1931 and Carey also was given only one-year contracts, the last of which he broke before yesterday.

An Old World Series Hero. Stengel was a Brooklyn outfielder from 1913 to 1918 and played with the Dodgers in the World Series of 1916. Later he was with the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia clubs before going to the New York Giants in 1922, where he helped John McGraw win two pennants. He finished his big league career with Boston in 1924 and from then until he was brought back to Brooklyn as a coach served as a promoter and manager of minor league teams. He was manager of the Toledo Mud Hens of the American Association while that team was a Giant farm and led them to a pennant in 1927.

He is 42 years old and a favorite with Dodger fans, who love his antics along the third base coaching lines.

Is a Shrewd Leader. Despite his clownish actions he is credited with being a shrewd baseball leader and a good developer of young talent. One of his most famous stunts was to catch a sparrow, place it in his cap and when he came to bat, release it as he dropped the headpiece, giving the umpires "the bird" in a manner to which they were not accustomed.

The financial terms of Casey's contract were not divulged but he said there was no haggling over about his business. He hoped to have a manager's salary of $50,000 a year, but he was reported to have been paid on a $12,000 manager's contract.

U. S. MIXED DOUBLES INDOOR TENNIS PLAY IS IN FINAL ROUND

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Rankings and reputations were disregarded as play in the national indoor mixed doubles championship ended the final round here yesterday.

Frank X. Shields, America's top-ranking amateur, teamed with Millicent Hirsch, was eliminated in the quarter-finals by Berkeley Bell and Florence Le Boutillier, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. Lester Stoen, gigantic Los Angeles star, ranked No. 3 in America, paired with Jane Sharp, another Los Angeles player, lost to Frank Bowden, former Columbia captain, and Norma Taylor, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, in the semi-final round.

Bell and Miss Le Boutillier entered the finals along with Bowden and Miss Taubele, by defeating Eugene H. McCulliff and Mary King Smith, 6-4, 6-4.

Stoen and Miss Sharp entered the semifinals, romping through a first-round match against Clyde Sisson and Mary McGuffy, of New York, 6-0, 6-0, and then defeating Jack Pittman, of New York, and Helen I. Graven, of Cross Point, Mich., 7-5, 6-1, in the second round.

East Side Teams Busy. Two rounds of games in the Southwestern Illinois Conference will leave only one more round to be played before the end of the campaign. In the games tonight, Madison plays at Collinsville, East St. Louis at Edwardsville, Wood River at Belleville and Granite City at Alton. Collinsville's second chance to increase its lead will come tomorrow night when it invades Alton. Other games are scheduled for tomorrow, with the college team being host to Flat River Junior College at Howard gymnasium at 8:15 o'clock tonight, and the academy at Edwardsville, the guest of Western Military at Alton.

Purely Financial. THERE was a financial reason behind Johnson's refusal to face Langford. In the end Johnson signed for the biggest purse offered up to that time—$10,000. Sam may have been the better man—he may not. Johnson was a great defensive fighter. Few men could hit him solidly. He was knocked out once by Joe Chynowski, but that was when he was just a stevedore in Galveston and knew little about fighting. Five years later Chynowski probably could not have hit Johnson solidly in a week.

Sam really was a dangerous fighter. But several opponents stood him off many times. He was too short to left-hook a man of Johnson's height, who leaned back and rolled his head away from blows. We respect Sam's punch, but we still think Jack Johnson the greatest of all Negro heavyweight fighters.

Young Yankee Infielders. Gehrig, Heffner, Rolfe and Laszari are slated to hold the infield posts for the New York Yankees. Heffner and Rolfe are new men.

Sport Salad

With a Nod to Annie Laurie. MAX CAREY's path was thorny. While with the Dodger crew, he lacked a sense of humor. And therefore he is through. He knew the baseball game, but had to take the blame. For Flatbush fans are funny. And want their team the same.

True to Form. Paying two managers and using one is typical of Brooklyn where they do things backwards. When economy is the watchword they hire a manager in the winter and fire him in the spring.

While this would be the proper procedure if Brooklyn were in the Hot Stove League, it doesn't seem to make sense in a league where the season is from April to October.

Incidentally it looks as though the Dodgers are going to scout among the saplings instead of the sturdy oaks for pitching timber. Joe Shauts has joined Jack Quinn, Fred Helmach, Hollis Thurston and Rosy Ryan on the way out.

"Dale Alexander Sent to Minors by Boston." ALEXANDER was hitting so pretty. That the pitchers he looked on with pity. But he slumped at the bat. So they gave him his hat. And a ticket to read Jersey City.

Denny Shute says Sammy Byrd, the Yankee outfielder, comes pretty close to being as good a golfer as most of the pros. Indicating that Sammy is an adept at making Byrds.

"Tulnar Fight Referee Still Not Selected." HIS name as yet they cannot tell. Though three they'll dicker with; But they know and know full well. It won't be "Gunboat" Smith!

Why Not? Suggest that Rogers Hornsby get in touch with that utility man who connected with 240 utilities. He might be able to hold down the hot corner for the Browns.

"Heavy Snow in Africa." Wanted to exchange: One noogie for a pair of ear muffs.

"Blondy" Ryan believes in pressing his luck. He has kicked in with a new slogan: "They can't tie us."

Undeterred by the success of the Giants' young slogger we are still standing pat on our shibboleth for the Browns: "It looks like first division."

From Reels to Riches. Earl McGahey is the boy who pulled one for Horatio Alger's book. He is now owner of the Sacramento club on which he started as a rookie outfielder.

"Plays Basketball With Broken Vertebrae." There's a boy with backbone! "Red" Faber says wasn't old age, but atrophy of the paycheck that made him quit the Paycheck Sox.

"Southern California and Notre Dame Charged With Gridiron Commercialism." Why pick on S. C. and N. D.?

Vines and Tilden Oppose French Stars Tonight

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—Big Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines hoped to continue their success against Henry Cochet and Martin Plaa of France in their professional tennis matches in Boston Garden tonight and tomorrow night.

Although they swept their opening matches against the Frenchmen in New York, Tilden and Vines both said they expected stiffer opposition in the games here. "Cochet is playing as fine tennis as I have seen him play in years," Tilden said, "and I wouldn't be surprised to see him beat either Vines tonight or myself tomorrow night."

"I had to play like fury to beat him Wednesday in New York, and mark my words—he'll play sensationally here."

LOUGHRAN IS IN CONDITION FOR CARNERA FIGHT

By the Associated Press. MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23.—The closer the ring sharp gets to Primo Carnera's heavyweight title defense against Tommy Loughran next Wednesday night the better appear the challenger's chances of staging one of the top upsets of ring history.

When the match was made, weeks ago, the bout was considered a tuneup for Carnera's summer campaign and the great battle that loomed widely about the fight.

But now, with the match only five days away, the complexion of the battle has changed.

Loughran in Condition. Loughran, in his training workouts at West Palm Beach, has fought himself into "perfect condition." He is handling sparring partners as well as Carnera, with the same ease he displayed in whipping giants such as Max Baer, Victorio Campolo and the late Ernie Schaaf. He is confident to a point where he almost dares with you not to make a mistake, to see the obvious, and realize he will win.

"Big fellows," he says, "always have been easier for me than little ones. My speed is tripled against them. Most of them, you know, Carnera never saw the day when he could begin to box with me. He can't hope to match me in generalship and experience."

Carnera, in his workout here, has employed several inadequately equipped sparring partners, as poor a lot as ever worked in a champion's camp. The three veterans he had of any note, Arthur Hittick, Harold May and George Manley, have been discharged. They were hitting him almost at will.

Champion Appears Upset. Worse than that in the eyes of the experts is the obviousness of Carnera's fighting plan. He seems to expect that Loughran will charge into him to be speared and crushed in the champion's huge arms. He is not equipped for guile, for a smart bout. When he tries to take the offense, Loughran probably will make him, he flounders badly.

The champion seems upset about something, and no one has been able to learn as yet the significance of the failure of Louis Sorel, his Italian manager and companion, to come down here from New York for the training or the fight. Carnera merely shrugs, but there is an air of depression, foreboding about the camp.

GUS MORELAND ENTERS QUARTER-FINAL ROUND OF HOUSTON GOLF PLAY

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 23.—Gus Moreland, of Dallas, defending champion, survived the first two rounds of the Houston invitation golf tournament yesterday, eliminating Fred Borsodi of Houston 2 up and Gibson Payne of Dallas, 2 and 1.

Sweeping into the quarterfinals with the champion were Edwin McClure of Shreveport, former Louisiana champion; Willie McGuire Jr. of Houston; Leland Hamman of Waco; Johnny Johnson of Chicago; Bryan Winter of Oklahoma City; Ed White of Austin, and David Goldman of Dallas.

Dawson gave the tournament its most sensational round when he defeated Fred Odum of New Orleans 1 up in 20 holes. He shot 32-70, one under par.

Goldman beat Frank Bolton of College Station, 4 and 3 and Earl Berryhill of Tulsa, 6 and 5. Winter defeated Sellers Thomas of Houston 5 and 3, and Dick Nauts, Houston city champion, 6 and 4. Hamman beat Charles Holloway, 5 and 4, and R. S. Montague of Saginaw, Mich., 6 and 5. White put out Logan Van Zandt of Tulsa, 2 up, and Jack Cameron of Houston, 2 and 1.

MINNEAPOLIS BOY, 14, WINS MID-ATLANTIC FIGURE SKATING TITLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Roslin Lee, former National junior champion from Minneapolis, won the Middle-Atlantic senior men's figure skating crown last night.

The 14-year-old boy gave a masterful exhibition in both the school figures and free skating to defeat William J. Wagle and George Bolter in that order.

Valerie Jones retained the women's championship with Dr. Hulda Berger second and Ardelle Kloss, third.

Bobby McLean Names Leading Pro and Amateur Ice Skaters

(This is the sixth and final article of a series on skating by Bobby McLean, famous speed skater.)

In my opinion, the leading amateur skaters today are Eddie Schroeder, Jack Shea and Allen Potts out-of-doors. In the professional class, Ben O'Sickey, Everett McClellan and Charles Delphier are the best, indoors and outdoors.

Schroeder learned a lot in a few years. He still has some distance to go before he knows all the ins and outs of skating, how and where to race under all circumstances, but his natural ability carried him to the top this year. Shea showed his mettle in the Olympics, and has been the best of the field in every race since then.

Indoors these three do not dominate the field, but I think that your own Lamar Olson of St. Louis is one of the best indoor skaters of the year. Eddie Stundl can stay with the best of them, too, and is smarter than Olson on the turns, if got as speedy on the straightaway.

In skating it's like tennis or swimming; you're bound to improve if you work with somebody a little better than you are.

Pietro Corry, an Australian, tonight in a Peoria ring. If he is defeated tonight, which is doubtful, the Legion outfit reserves the right to substitute another fighter for him on March 7.

Matchmaker Eddie Byrne indicated yesterday that he is just about ready to close with an opponent for the St. Louis ace. That the foe would neither be Johnny Risko nor Babe Hunt, whom Byrne has been seeking, was admitted. Neither of these men will be available on March 7.

STILLMAN SIGNS FOR BOUT HERE MARCH 7

Plans for the next boxing show of the Jackson Johnson Jr. Post of the American Legion began to take definite shape yesterday when Al Stillman, light-heavyweight star of St. Louis, signed to appear in the main event of 10 rounds. The card will be held at the Coliseum on March 7, just a month after Stillman's upset victory over Hans Birnie, a victory that sent his pugilistic stock upward.

Western Table Tennis Tourney Opens Tomorrow

Leading table tennis players of the Mid-West were arriving in St. Louis today for the Western tournament. The event will be held tomorrow and Sunday at the St. Louis University gymnasium.

James McClure, 17-year-old student at Ohio State University, has been seeded No. 1 in the men's division. Winner of Indiana and Ohio championships this season, he also won individual scoring honors in recent inter-city team matches at Chicago.

No. 1 position in the women's division has been given to Miss Helen Ovenden of Chicago, defending champion of her division, with No. 2 going to Miss Jessie Purvis of Des Moines, Ill., national women's champion.

Mark Schude, Missouri State champion, has been seeded highest in the men's division among St. Louisans at No. 3. Mrs. Ethel B. Schneider of St. Louis ranks fourth in the women's group.

Three rounds will be played tomorrow afternoon, with the quarterfinals scheduled in the evening. Semifinals and finals will be contested Sunday afternoon.

Wins Ski Title.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Ottar Sætre of Salisbury, Conn., won the Eastern United States amateur class A ski jumping title on Olympic Hill yesterday afternoon by a margin of four points over Harold Sorenson of Norfolk, Conn., defending champion. Sætre's longest standing jump was 185 feet, on his second effort. His first jump was 179 feet, and his total point score was 220.9.

In Cheerful Georgia.
A Busy Day.

Some Other News.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1934.)

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 23. GEORGIA, in 1934, is a cheerful State, for good reasons. The total value of Georgia's crops rose from $87,029,000 in 1932 to $128,863,000 in 1933. Last year this State produced $2,000,000 worth of cotton and $7,794,000 worth of cotton seed. A few decades ago cotton seed was thought useless and getting rid of it was a problem.

Georgia, with its rich, red soil, fine, mild climate and industrious people, is a State of assorted crops, producing last year $4,000,000 worth of peaches, $4,000,000 of sweet potatoes, $11,000,000 of peanuts, $6,000,000 of tobacco, $2,000,000 of sugar cane.

If you live outside of his State every Georgian pities you sincerely, and if you ask whether he considers Georgia the finest place in the world he looks at you closely, not believing that you could ask the question seriously.

He doubts whether Athens, Greece, at any stage compared with Athens, Georgia. The University of Georgia is at Athens. What is a parthenon to a great university, or a Pericles to a Dr. Sanford?

In Georgia, the visitor's day is one of active hospitality. You arrive and are entertained at dinner, then there is a dance.

At 7 in the morning the automobile comes to drive you 70 miles to the university at Athens, where you speak about George Washington, it being his birthday, to as intelligent a lot of boys and girls as you will find anywhere in America.

After the university meeting at Woodruff Hall, an excellent speech by Dr. Sanford, president of the university, and another by Dr. George Foster Peabody, who made Franklin D. Roosevelt acquainted with Georgia's marvelous Warm Springs, there is a luncheon, with more speeches.

Next you motor 40 miles to Gainesville, to see cotton mills, and important industrialists working under NRA.

After an official dinner in the evening by the Jefferson Chamber of Commerce, you return to Atlanta at 10:30 p. m., after a 15-hour day.

What would Gen. NRA Johnson think of that? The trip includes a stop at Jefferson, where Dr. Crawford W. Long long ago performed the first operation under anesthesia. Dr. Long noticed that young men who injured themselves or were cut at "ether" parties, where the guests induced intoxication by sniffing ether, felt no pain when he operated on them. This gave him the idea of using ether regularly in surgical operations.

Boston claims for its Dr. Morton the first operation under anesthesia, but Georgia shows that Dr. Long of Jefferson first had the idea.

"Ether parties" were "perfectly respectable, members of both sexes indulging for the exhilarating effect of the ether."

Outside of Georgia and a busy Washington's birthday, the news runs as follows:

A young Swedish Prince Sigvard is determined to marry a blonde German movie actress, in spite of his father.

The Prince's direct ancestor, Bernadotte, a little lawyer in France, whose son became Marshal under Napoleon, would have thought the marriage a pretty good one. Franklin Erika Fatsch, the young actress, earns "good money" and her robust health that moving picture work demands might improve the Swedish royal family.

The French Chamber of Deputies decides to tax wages of foreigners, including young American vice-presidents of New York financial institutions that have branch establishments in Paris. Uncle Sam could, but will not, retaliate by taxing earnings of French head waiters in America. Many of them earn more than do the young financial vice-presidents.

Gen. Johnson objects to the application of an arbitrary 30-hour week to all industries. He calls that "rushing things." He believes, rightly, "that you could not apply a flat rule in industry."

Mr. Johnson thinks you can't get the millennium "all in one bite," that it will need "two or three bites." It may need more bites than that.

The French decide that Staviaky was an international spy, selling French war secrets to other nations. It would hardly seem necessary.

Self-Deception Serious Fault In Maturity

Approach of Old Age Tends to Make One Lazy and Create False Alibis.

By Elsie Robinson

NOW that I am 50 I find that I fear only one thing greatly. I do not fear poverty, for I have been poor most of my life. I do not fear riches, for being what I am, I shall never have them. I do not fear death, for I cannot keep them if they come my way.

I do not fear sickness, for I have known that, too, and no matter what it does to your flesh, it can't do any irreparable harm to your spirit unless you let it. I do not fear persecution, for I've learned that it's the price any brave soul pays for living.

I do not even fear death any more, though, after 50, we must all see the loom of it ahead. But death has already taken that which I loved far more than my own life. Death has darkened life for me, yet left me with a growing conviction that the darkness is only in my own eyes—that the skies are clear and bright beyond this little blindness.

So, at 50, nearly all the fears that once haunted me have passed away. But one fear remains—grows stronger with each day—and I realize that this peril is the worst of all; that it is, perhaps, the only real danger I have ever known.

I FEAR TO FOOL MYSELF!

Let others fool me as they can and will; such chances as that are only part of the game. And though I naturally resent such trickery and have my hot, human moments of hungering for revenge, nevertheless I know I had it coming to me, and will be the better for the bitter lesson. So, I repeat, I do not fear that others may fool me.

BUT I DREAD, WITH ALL MY HEART, MY OWN FOOLING OF MYSELF.

For one only lives to the exact extent that one knows the truth about oneself. The rest is just a pipe dream—and that pipe dream is more terrible than death. You can't help being dead when you are dead. But to be deceived, to be alive to deliberately close your eyes to the wonder and challenge of life's amazing spectacle—that's the sickest and most shameful surrender that a human being can know.

AND EVERY TIME I FOOL MYSELF ABOUT MYSELF, I DO CLOSE MY EYES TO LIFE—I DO CHOOSE THAT LIVING DEATH.

THERE'S the worst menace—the only real menace—of middle and old age. Each day you're more tempted to fool yourself about yourself. You're getting lazy. How you once loathed and laughed at lazy old people! And something in you still says that you should loathe and laugh at laziness. But you don't want to! It's so comfortable, so easy, to be lazy.

And there are so many Perfect Alibis! You can blame it on your health. You can say it isn't laziness, at all; it's really poise. You've learned, at last, not to fly around needlessly; not to fidget. So you fool yourself, and presently even that secret self-contempt is stilled. You believe your own alibis. And laziness closes about you—a soft and horrible trap!

Or you're getting cowardly. Cowardice—how you've always despised it! Twenty years ago—even 10—you'd have been furious at anyone who called you a coward. But now there's an inertia settling on your spirit, as well as your flesh. You know you don't have to let it. You know you can't. If you will, you can be brave now as you were at 20. You can be brave to the end. But—

It's hard to work to be brave. People may laugh at you. You may get into messes, may lose some friends or money, even your position. You can't bear the prospect! And so you tell yourself you're not really cowardly. You're simply grown more philosophical and prudent—don't fly off half-cocked any more. No; you've learned a sense of values.

So you fool yourself, dope yourself—and all the world helps you. For the world no longer expects you to be brave or lively, as it once did. You're getting old, and it would make the other oldsters mad and hope if you challenged their comfort by refusing to take the count—by fighting on. As for the youngsters—you're blotto at any rate, as far as they're concerned; just an old has-been.

Why is old age so hideous? That is why. Not because the body is naturally wearing out—BUT BECAUSE WE ARE DELIBERATELY LETTING THE SPIRIT WITHIN THAT BODY DIE OUT.

Cold Water First

We see it done in the ice cream store, yet we always forget to wet the spoon with cold water before serving ice cream at home. The ice cream does not melt in the spoon in no time at all if the spoon is wet each time before thrusting it into the box.

Vitamin A Diets And Protection From Infections

By Dr. Iago Galdston

VITAMIN A is the so-called fat-soluble vitamin found abundantly in butter, cod liver oil, milk, eggs and spinach.

This vitamin has in recent years been dubbed the anti-infective vitamin, because of the alleged protection against infection which it conferred on those taking it.

Comparative studies of the frequency of colds in children who were given abundant quantities of vitamin A containing foods and those whose diets were ordinary, do not demonstrate that those who had more vitamin A rationed fared any better.

Such experiments and studies, however, are not very reasonable, for in a parallel way we might argue that, since in the winter one is likely to catch cold when inadequately dressed, therefore the more clothing one wears the more one should be protected against colds.

The fact is that it has been demonstrated unquestionably that the lack of vitamin A does render the sufferer more liable to infection. It has been shown that young rats brought up on a diet complete so far as is known except for vitamin A develop many infections from which they ultimately die.

It has been shown also in a very interesting experiment in England involving 550 pregnant women, that those whose diets were rich in vitamins A and D, suffered a substantially lower percentage of infection following delivery than was noted in a comparable group of women without a supplementary diet rich in vitamins A and D.

Dr. Edward Mellanby advises as the basis of a general diet in pregnancy and nursing the following:

Two pints of milk daily; one or two substantial servings of green vegetables, cabbage, spinach or lettuce, daily; one or two eggs or egg yolks daily; an apple or orange or some fresh fruit daily; sea fish twice or more a week; calf's liver once a week; if cod liver oil can be taken, two teaspoonfuls daily.

The rest of the diet can be made up according to taste.

Partner of Doubler Must Be Wary After Intervening Bid

By P. Hal Sims

YESTERDAY I dealt with the consternations which should influence the doubler's partner when the intervening opponent has bid over the double and thereby relieved him from the necessity of responding to the bid. I consider certain inferences to be drawn if that opponent merely raises the opener's suit. If, instead, he bids ONE NO TRUMP over the double, that is a strong bid and the doubler's partner must beware. It now looks as if the double was a strategic one, with sacrificial intent, and one should keep quiet if the only bid one could make would drive the bidding a round higher than originally contemplated. The doubler has been provided with another chance to take action, and the opening bidder's rebid or pass may assist him materially in deciding what to do. If they are playing Sims against you, that no-trump response over the double is almost equivalent to a two no trump response over a pass; so beware of getting back into the bidding. Let your partner decide what to do. He knows the nature of his own double—and do not get your side back into the bidding unless you have a freakish hand of extremely aggressive type. With some values in short-suited form, double the no trump; it may be a near-psychic; whether it is or not, it tells your partner just what kind of hand you have, and enables him to determine without great margin for error whether to let the double stand (if opener has not rescued) or to bid his strategic suit, for which it is now evident that you have pretty fair support.

A business double by you in this situation is to some extent tantamount to a bid, and the original doubler, is not under any obligation to let it stand. You are providing for the case that his double was distributive; in that case you surely have the enemy trapped in no trumps. If they can rescue by rebidding or taking it back to spades, nothing has been lost; they would probably have got to two spades anyhow and if neither of you can double that bid, your partner presumably has the key to the hand—whether to defend the part score by bidding three in his suit, or to stay out of the bidding and defend the hand in the play.

If the double is overcalled in a fresh suit, that is again a constructive move, and it looks as if on this occasion your partner's double was strategic and was going to fall in keeping the adversaries from getting together and bidding their hands well. Unless you have a freak, it is best to pass and let the doubler handle the situation. If you were going to respond to the double by bidding the suit which has just been bid on your right, double at once if you have some such holding as Q 10 x x or K J x x potentially the enemy are now in a misfit, and if they have a fit for game purposes in no trumps, a double by you at this stage may be the only way of keeping them out of it. When both opponents have doubled on the first round of bidding, it takes a pretty good partnership to get to three no trumps even if there is a game in that declaration. A double by you at this point simply undertakes to take care of that suit; it does not mean that you are prepared also to double the opener's suit or no trumps. Your partner, the original doubler, should now take control, and pass, should now take control, and pass, relying on you only to stop them from running a number of tricks in the suit you have doubled.

War also makes queer bed fellows. The solemn British Government and the arm-stretching Hitler are said to have joined forces "in a supreme effort for disarmament." Hitler made his first visit to the British Embassy, talked almost affectionately with Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal. It is expected that Mussolini may join with Germany and Britain, in which case France will be glad that she has been financing good-sized armies for Poland and other countries.

This country, if it is sufficiently silly, may have a chance to lend 10 more billions to fighting Europeans, and, of course, never get them back.

Training a Child's Ability to Choose Its Own Clothes

By Mrs. Brooke P. Church

CHILDREN vary tremendously in their attitude towards choosing clothes. Some take pleasure in it, others are indifferent and still others find the whole procedure boring and unnecessary.

Since they will one day have to assume the responsibility of dressing themselves, it seems advisable, even necessary, to train them as early as possible in the suitable choice of clothes.

This will not, of course, apply to the occasional child who knows instinctively what he or she wants and needs. Few children have this faculty from the outset. Most of them must be guided in some degree.

For the child who has a tendency to go to extremes, who must have the latest thing, with no regard to its taste or beauty, there is a useful little adage. "Be not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to lay it to the aside."

This child will have to be allowed to make a few mistakes, in all probability, to be shown the futility of extremes and to give confidence in the beauty and grace of moderation.

It is a slow process, and cannot be accomplished by driving, but only by tactful guidance and insistence rather than beauty than on vulgarity.

The child who has no opinion of his own, who takes without question what is given it to wear, presents just as difficult a problem.

It must be encouraged to have confidence in itself, and to notice the clothes of others. If it ever does express a preference the mother will do well to gratify it if she possibly can, and to encourage with praise the results of the choice.

Keeping the balance between too much and too little attention to dress is like walking a tight-rope.

Wasting Gas
Never allow the flame of the gas-burner to blaze up around the sides of the kettle. That extra blaze is just a waste of gas, turn it down until the gas is burning just underneath the kettle.

You've heard these sayings many times, of course, but do you know who said them first?

- 1—"These are my jewels!"
- 2—"The die is cast."
- 3—"We have met the enemy and they are ours."
- 4—"Tomorrow will be another day."

Jack Oakie Gets Lead in Hecht's Play

"Great Magoo" Is Ready for Production—Charles Boyer Elopes.

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22.—It's sure as fate when blonde Pat Patterson eloped to Tuxedo with the popular French actor, Charles Boyer, you knew that Fox would capitalize on that elopement. The ink hadn't dried on their marriage certificate before Robert Kane, producer of Boyer's first picture, "By Royal Command," ordered the script written to give the new Mrs. Boyer a part.

Bob just had to do something. Here was Winfield Sheehan exploiting the idol of France and getting the femme population all ready to receive a new Chevalier when he up and marries a girl he had only known three weeks.

One of the acting hits of the current year in New York belongs to Frank M. Thomas, a boy of 10. He has had the theater-going world in raves over his performance in "Wednesday's Child," a drama dealing with divorce and written by Leopold Atlas. Pandro Berman saw the Thomas child when he was in New York. He promptly purchased the screen right to "Wednesday's Child" and signed Master Thomas to play the leading role.

They tell me that the Jack Oakie popularity isn't confined just to the Earl Carroll beauties but that exhibitors all over the country are calling for more Oakie pictures. Paramount doesn't mind a bit his listening to news like that, and the studio has handed Jack one of the best roles he has had in a long time. He has been given the grand role of "Nick" in Ben Hecht's play, "The Great Magoo."

It has been sort of a checkered career for Helen Twelvetrees in Hollywood. Hailed as a sensation after her first screen appearance, succeeding roles were not always worthy of her talents. It should be different now. She will have a real opportunity again in the dramatic role of Mrs. Rothstein, wife of the late New York racketeer, in "Now It Tell."

You'd never suspect Gary Cooper of being a Cupid in disguise, now, would you? Well, he is just that. He made friends with Jay Lloyd, good looking youngster who will play a bit in Marion Davies' picture, "Operator 13." Now young Lloyd is going places with Barbara Ballif, a sister of Mrs. Gary Cooper.

After digging down in his pocket and paying what I hear was plenty for a song hit in "The Cat's Paw." Harold Lloyd has been shopping around for just the right girl to do it justice. She had to be able to act as well as sing and dance. Moreover, she had to be a beauty. Harold decided that no one but Grace Bradley would do. He has borrowed her from Paramount.

Sugar Wafers.
One-half cup butter.
One cup sugar.
Two eggs.
One tablespoon cream.
One-half teaspoon nutmeg.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One-fourth teaspoon almond extract.
One-fourth teaspoon lemon extract.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
Two and two-thirds cup flour.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and cream. Beat well. Add rest of ingredients and drop portions from tip of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Bake 12 minutes in moderate oven.

A Good-Looking Icing
If you use butter in the frosting for the cake, after the cake has been iced put it in the oven for a few minutes with the door open. It will give the icing a smooth, glossy appearance.

Pessimism Has Its Place in Present Age

Abnormal Optimism Blinds
One to the Imperfections in World.

By the Rev. Joseph Fort Newton

GERTRUDE STEIN says she dislikes the abnormal; it is so obvious. Then, as if to give us an unconscious example, she tells us that she is the greatest literary genius of this generation, if not the only one.

She has known only three first-class geniuses, she adds. One is Pablo Picasso, the artist who painted her portrait 95 times, and another is Alfred Whitehead; but her own name leads all the rest.

Why such self-inflation that is so obviously abnormal? Alas, it is because the tedious, tiresome, egotism which seems to be a trait, if not a disease, of our time—a kind of ingrowing vanity.

At the other end of the gamut we find an equally odd deflation—never were so many folk suffering from a sense of insignificance, of the futility and worthlessness of life, of loss of faith, loss of nerve, loss of grit as well as grace.

What is the matter with us in this generation? Life is abnormal, and it does things to us before we know it. We see things out of perspective and proportion; we do not think straight. In an eccentric age we are in danger of becoming eccentric, if we do not have a care. At times it does look like a crazy world—as crazy as the man who thinks he is a fried egg, and refuses to sit down except upon a piece of toast. We have too much food, so people go hungry; we have more clothing than we need, so thousands go ragged and cold in winter.

It is all upside down, and no one seems able to put it right. Here is Oliver Baldwin, son of a former Prime Minister, writing a letter to his unborn son, telling him that he will not bring him into "such a world as this." If youth gives up in despair, what hope have we?

Yet maybe our pessimism is the most hopeful thing about us, following an abnormal optimism—in which we thought we were riding in an escalator. At least we see that it is a pretty imperfect world, and will need a lot of mending—and there is a job for us.

With all its faults, it is not an impossible place for brave men to live in, providing they keep their faith and hope, as brave men do. (Copyright, 1934.)

DON'T BE FAT

"Eat Sensibly—Drink Welch's Grape Juice" says the Lovely Lady of the Screen

IRENE RICH

Excess fat comes from eating and drinking too rich in fat-producing elements. But in order to keep healthy and at the same time maintain your energy, it is not enough to substitute low-calorie foods. Scientists have now discovered that you must also supply the body with a certain amount of easily-burned sugar—so that the body can burn up its fat.

That's why Welch's Processed Grape Juice—always Certified Pure and Pasteurized, belongs on every refrigerator. It satisfies that craving for sweets and rich, fat-tasting foods... yet actually helps you lose weight.

In the Welch process all the sugar in the juice is left in, and hence quickly and easily burned; it actually helps you burn up fat! As you follow the Welch Way week after week, it not only gives you slender lines; it restores a lovely natural color to your cheeks. You feel "made over"—full of new vitality.

Start Welch's Today!

Along with your daily reducing diet, drink a glass with or between meals, and before retiring. Measureville, write for free booklet, "Keeping Your Weight Down." Reduce this delightful, scientific way and at the same time gain new energy.

Remember, Welch's is always Certified Pure and Pasteurized, and sells today at the lowest price in 35 years. Don't be misled with cheap imitations.

FREE Send your name and address to the Welch Grape Juice Co., Dept. 2341, Westfield, N.Y., for free booklet, "Keeping Your Weight Down." Also an Autoographed Photo. Tell, please Rich, with a letter from her telling you how at 41 she keeps her weight the same as at 18. All sent prepaid.

Marriage Is A Partnership In Every Way

Wives Are Accorded Judgment in Financial as Well as Other Family Matters.

By Martha Carr

Dear Mrs. Carr: I HAVE been very unhappy for some time because I know that my husband has been attempting to deceive me about several important things in which I feel that he should share confidence with me.

For instance, he has told me money that he has told me made. He stays away from home at night telling me he has to work overtime. I have, however, learned for a certainty that these statements, among others he has asked me to believe, are untrue. Because he has tried to deceive me on so many occasions, I find that I am losing faith in him. I have done everything I know to help him see that I am hurting him by this attitude. Instead of confessing that he is lying and is sorry, he tries unsuccessfully to bluff his way out.

I have been working since our marriage several months ago because I wanted to save for a lovely home of our own. I really thought he would co-operate with me and help me plan for the future.

JACKIE.

If a man feels that his wife has no judgment at all, it is only the fair and square thing for him to explain just what his financial condition is; what he can afford and what is impossible. He should make a partnership of marriage, in this way as well as in others. The day has gone by when wives were handed money like children, every nickel counted, with a detailed accounting, as if they were simple-minded morons. At those times, it was not thought feminine to know too much about figures or business. And women were not supposed to be able to resist spending money foolishly. But since most men do not, knowingly, marry fools, they should give their wives credit for a little judgment and also some honesty. The kind of deception you describe is nothing more nor less than a form of greed and self-indulgence; and the best we can think of it is that the man has the grace to be too ashamed of it to tell it. I think you would better forget, for a while, the saving for the home and work outside, and let him meet all the bills. Perhaps when he thinks you have given up your plans and all effort to help, he may bestir himself.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I DATE quite a few young men, but after the one date is over, I don't care whether the fellow comes to see me again or calls me up either. I am 16 years old, but have never thought seriously of a boy, although many girls of this age are considering marriage.

Why is it that a fellow always wants to be kissing and necking all the time he is out with a girl? I dislike it; when I am out with this mushy type I cannot help showing it. I'm disgusted and so don't care whether I ever see them again.

Why can't more boys be just pals? I am sure if they tried this novelty they would find it not so boring as they think—and much more enduring. I have two habits which I want to ask you about; one is staring and the other is biting my nails. Without realizing, I can stare at someone or something for full five or ten minutes and am not aware of it. The other habit is tragic—and ruins the looks of my hands.

And some boys complain that girls expect this mushiness—so you must realize that all boys are not alike, any more than girls are all alike. They are both, sometimes, have an idea beyond this kind of entertainment.

Have someone remind you when you stare like this—and stop letting your mind wander when you are with people; this probably accounts for the stare. If you are bodily in St. Louis, do not expect people to understand if you are, mentally, taking a sun-bath in Florida.

Use your will-power about the nails; you are too old to have your hand tied or wrapped up, as they sometimes do children's. A very little bitter aloes under the nail as a reminder.

Dear Martha Carr: I N A church parlor wedding ceremony, should the bride wear hat, coat and gloves? And please tell me about the engagement ring; should it be worn before the wedding ring is placed on the finger?

WONDERING.

You can wear hat, coat and gloves, if you like, to the church parlor; but would remove the gloves before the ceremony. You can be married without hat or coat, of course. The wedding ring must not be put on until after the ceremony. Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

GRL FAMILY

—By—BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER FIVE

THE white marble clock was striking a single note for half past six as she closed the door of her bedroom and started down the stairs. Half way down there was a landing large enough to accommodate a sofa and a large Chinese jardiniere filled with dusty catails.

As she reached it she became aware of a low rumble of voices from the hall below. One of them was Uncle Worthy's deep bass and the other was a voice that she did not recognize. A pleasant man's voice.

"I came to ask about the room that's advertised in tonight's paper," it was saying as Susan stopped to listen.

"Oh, yes. Well, would you like to come in and look at it now?" she heard Uncle Worthy answer. Then there came the sound of the vestibule door closing and footsteps crossed the hall and started up the stairs.

Susan turned and flew back to the upper hall and down the back stairs. By the time she reached the downstairs hall her uncle and the strange man were upstairs. She could hear them talking, and the glass chandelier that hung from the ceiling tinkled faintly as they crossed the floor overhead—the floor of the room that had been Grandfather Broderick's bedroom during his lifetime.

She clasped one hand to her cheek in dismay as it flashed across her mind that Uncle Worthy was showing the room to the strange man with the idea of renting it to him if possible. It had been a "Rooms for Rent" advertisement that he had been looking for in the evening paper a half hour before!

For months he had joked in his heavy way about having to rent some of the rooms in the house if the Brodericks became any poorer, and Susan had laughed at him politely, as she always laughed when he joked about things. Not until that afternoon, in Mr. Dillon's office had she realized just how poor they all were. She knew, of course, that there had been a great deal more money in the family a few years before. She could remember that long years ago her father had had an electric runabout in which he had driven to and from his office every day. She remembered a summer that the whole family had spent in Blowing Rock among the cool South Carolina mountains. One winter they had all gone to White Sulphur Springs, and in her childhood they had had a houseman named Albert, who had slept in a room in the carriage house and helped Anna, the cook, with the work of the house. There was only Anna now.

AUNT EDNA and LUTIE were sitting in the parlor when she opened the door and burst in upon them. LUTIE's eyes looked as if she had been crying, but Aunt Edna, as placid as usual, was sitting in her big chair embroidering parrots in bright-colored wool on green linen shoe bag just where she had been sitting all afternoon. In her black clothes she struck Susan, somehow, as a rock over which storms might roar and pass, leaving no mark, no sign. Her eyes, when she glanced up at the opening of the door, were like round brown pennies. Eyes that never let anyone see what thoughts were going on behind them.

"What on earth are we doing?" Susan asked her, standing with her back against the closed door. "Renting a room in this house to someone?" She shook her head as she spoke. It seemed impossible that that was what they were doing. Renting rooms to strangers was something that other people did, but the Brodericks never! And Grandfather Broderick's room, that was always kept just as it always had been, with his silver brushes and shaving mug set out on the dresser, his Bible on the bedside table, his framed oil painting of Grandmother Broderick hanging above the bed, his armchair with its lace dollies standing beside the window! It seemed dreadful to Susan that a stranger would come to live in that room. Into the house that he had built with such pride.

"Yes, we're going to try to rent your grandfather's room," said Aunt Edna. "Your uncle telephoned the ad to the newspaper this morning about 11, and here is someone to answer it in less than eight hours! That's really getting results, isn't it?" She was Uncle Worthy's wife, and the only member of the family who was not a Broderick by birth. But she looked enough like her husband and LUTIE to be their sister. She had the same short thick-set figure, the same dark complexion, the same sort of Roman nose and square chin, and she was so stout that she no longer cared to know how much she weighed.

Susan picked up the evening paper that lay on the carpet at her feet and began to search for the advertisement, sitting on the very edge of a chair near the fireplace.

"DID you see the man who came to look at the room, Susan?" LUTIE asked suddenly. "No, I just heard his voice, LUTIE. It was an awfully nice one. I noticed it particularly." Aunt Edna's massive head gave a jerk. "Susan, I want to say just one thing to you about this—this paying guest," she said. "We'll have to have him here—that is, we

Bride Showers May Be Given For Two Girls

Friends of Each Should Be Told That Only One Gift Is Expected.

By Emily Post.

Dear Mrs. Post: If you will help me to plan it, I shall have a reception for an out-of-town friend who is coming to our town to give a concert. The concert will be in the afternoon from 4 to 5:30. Please tell me what sort of invitations are sent, to whom, what to serve and everything that is important for me to know.

Answer: In the present day, a reception is simply an afternoon tea, or since the concert is not likely to be over much before 6, it may be better to have an evening at home. In either case, write across your husband's and your double visiting card. To meet Miss Louise Chantaine, Mon., Feb. 26, 8:30 to 10 p. m. (Abbreviations, when written on visiting cards, are correct.) Serve coffee and a fruit punch, sandwiches and cakes. Or if you want to make the party more important, add something like croquettes with salad and then ice cream and coffee.

My dear Mrs. Post: We are four girls working in the same office. Two of us are going to be married soon and the other two would like to give a shower for the brides-to-be. We all know practically the same people though our most intimate friends are different ones. Is there any way that we could have one shower party for the two girls without asking people to contribute a gift to both brides?

Answer: As you say, you cannot very well ask less than intimate friends for gifts. But you can invite an equal number of personal

His Pointed Ears Give Willy Nilly Further Trouble

By Mary Graham Bonner

WILLY NILLY had finished repairing his automobile and the farmer's truck and now he was ready to go home.

"Mrs. Quacko, Mrs. Quacko Duck," he called, "I've finished my work."

Mrs. Quacko said good-bye to the Ducks he had just met. "Do come over to Puddle Muddle and see me some time, quack, quack," she told them.

You must come and see us again, quack, quack," they told her. "Thank you. I certainly will do that. It's quite easy for me to get around, as I have my one-and-a-half cylinder Duck coupe," she answered rather boastfully.

She went home by herself and Willy Nilly drove his automobile Two-Ways. But when they got to Puddle Muddle the others could see that Willy Nilly was not very happy. He had his car. It was running all right, and yet he was sad.

"Did you mind having to mend the farmer's truck so as to be allowed to bring away your own?" Mrs. Quacko asked.

"No, I didn't mind that, even though it delayed me."

"What is the trouble?" they quacked and barked and cawed and crowed.

"Those children at the farm made remarks about my ears."

"Quack, quack, caw-caw-wow-wow, caw, caw, cackle, cackle, we'll go right over and peck at those children. Come Mrs. Quacko. Drive us there."

But Willy Nilly begged them not to go and get into more trouble. All he asked for was time in which to attend to the ears!

Who's afraid of the BIG BAD COLD?

Intelligent people fight colds by using Listerine every morning and night. It is surprising how effective it is. This safe antiseptic cleanses the mouth and kills millions of germs associated with colds and simple sore throat. Actual tests have shown that Listerine users catch fewer and milder colds than non-users.

COOK-DOOS

Mary Pickford says there ought to be a school where women are taught to be reasonably selfish.

Anyways, there ought to be a school where women are taught to be reasonable.

JUST ONE FLAW
(Lamar, Mo., Democrat)
Prof. Van was at the Bijou, Tuesday evening, with his trained filly Fares. The animal actually appears to recognize figures. It can pick out blocks, bearing the proper letters to spell its name. The filly seems to have some knowledge of colors, and shows a strong liking for red as she does an aversion to blue. One feature that detracts from the performance is the fact that the animal does not appear to pay the slightest attention to what is said to it.

Another very cheerful guy

Is he who spoils my story by Remembering the actual facts.

MEMOIRS OF MR. FRISBY

One of the brutal officers who playfully kicked Mr. Frisby during riot.

CHAPTER X.
By HORACE WALPOLE FRISBY
Congressman-at-Large

IT has just occurred to me how I have spent my entire life in a fearless battle for the rights of the minority. In fact, I remember as in a dream—and until I have had an opportunity to consider all angles involved I will neither affirm or deny that it was a dream—some stirring incidents in the Summer of 1934. It was then I was accused of being a dangerous radical because I championed the right of Conservatives to hold street demonstrations in every city of our fair nation.

"Hold!" I cried, my magnificent speaking voice almost obliterated by the thud of night sticks on silk hats. "Is this not democracy? Are these unfortunates to be man-handled and carted off to jail merely because they wish to protest against the existing order? No, a thousand times, no!"

And so I continued, as the placards screaming, "Down with Utopia," "Give Us Interest," and such catchwords of the rioting Capitalists, were trampled underfoot. A frenzied scene it was, you may be sure. I remember that one burly "copper" advanced upon me, brandishing a "black-jack." And how I, just in time, flashed credentials showing myself to be a member of Congress, and thus got off with nothing more serious than a playful kick.

Let's EXPLORE Your MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

See Whether His Opinions Agree With Your Own

1. IS THE TENDENCY TO IMITATE OTHER PEOPLE IN THEIR IDEAS AND WAYS OF LIFE AN INDICATION OF LOW INTELLIGENCE?
YES OR NO

2. ARE THE YOUNG WOMEN OF TODAY BECOMING MORE SERIOUS IN THEIR VIEWS OF LIFE, EDUCATION, MARRIAGE AND CAREERS?
YES OR NO

GERMAN EX-CROWN PRINCE SAID RECENTLY: "THE HOPE OF THE WORLD LIES IN GREAT INDIVIDUALS INSTEAD OF...CREATING MORE MACHINERY. LET US SEEK OUT HUMAN DYNAMOS LIKE MUSSOLINI. DO YOU AGREE?"

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals. It indicates either a lack of originality or lack of courage. Many people of high intelligence have the emotions and attitudes of children. Imitation of others, instead of developing a philosophy of one's own, is a pretty strong proof that one has never got beyond his adolescence. Better ask yourself if you are acting your age.

Speaking on this point recently Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve, of Barnard College, Columbia, said: "Giggling is out; blasé indifference has disappeared. . . . They are seeking the education that develops wisdom, service and character. They are going in for simple, inexpensive pleasures and turning to religious clubs as well." Within the past year I have been asking college groups where I lecture to send up written questions and they are all serious questions of life, work and purpose. It is a hopeful outlook for our national character.

Certainly, only Mussolini might not be the particular dynamo I would pick out for a democratic nation. However, great individuals have made about all that is worth while in civilization. Sir Francis Galton produced strong evidence that Grecian greatness was due to only a few families—probably less than five hundred. Frederick Adams Woods, biologist, has shown that European civilization up to the last century has been overwhelmingly determined by some three hundred and fifty kings and queens. The common man, as I have often said, has little to do with progress except to hold it back. This is a thousand times more true if he is, by chance, a ruler and has power.
